Medical Plan Use Doubles

County Court Gives Report; Welfare Director Is Honored

The Pettis County Medical Indigent Plan, which provides free medical and hospital care for needy patients, has more than doubled itself in value to the community since it was initiated in 1955, according to an analysis released by county court this week.

Communities throughout the state are carefully watching the Pettis County plan, which is the only one of its kind in operation, and checking the results against the possibility of adopting a similar plan in their own areas.

Fair Queen To Be Chosen In August

She Will Take Part In International Queen Competition

Missouri will have a Fair Queen in accordance with plans of the Missouri Fairs Association which met in Jefferson City last week. The queen will be chosen at the Missouri State Fair during the 1958 fair week of Aug. 16-24.

H. M. Garlock, St. Joseph, past president of the association, announced at the annual banquet Friday night all association fair members will select a queen for their own fair. These queens will then come to Sedalia, and from the bevy of beauties a Missouri Fair Queen will be chosen.

The Missouri Queen will be taken to the International Fairs Association meeting in Chicago, at which time an International Fair Queen will be selected.

According to the announcement, it is the plan of the International Association to have all 48 states and Canada represented at Chicago.

M. C. "Colie" Ervin, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, attended the meeting in Jefferson City. He reported the newly elected president, Truman Nickerson, of Bithany, Mo., of the Bethany Fair, is appointing a committee which will set the rules and regulations governing the selection of the queens.

"Selection of a Missouri Fair Queen will be one of the highlights of the 1958 State Fair," Ervin reported.

He stated the date for the selection will be announced later, and after the final selection, the contesting queens from the county fairs and expositions will become princesses.

Syracuse Girl Cut by Glass In School Door

Clara Lee Hale, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hale, three miles west of Syracuse, was severely cut about 3:40 p.m. Friday by glass in a door in the school building. She was running through the building to go out and get on the bus, and with her arm outstretched to grab the iron bar across the door, her hand slipped and her arm went through the glass, causing several bad gashes, one to the bone.

Mrs. Elina Newkirk, one of the teachers happened to be near at the time of the accident, and called another teacher, Miss Dora Eichholz. The two and Rolla Salmons applied a tourniquet because the girl was losing so much blood.

Clara Lee's father and Dr. J. F. Potts, who had been notified, immediately arrived at the school and Dr. Potts, upon seeing the seriousness of the cuts, rushed her to Bothwell Hospital, where Dr. D. C. Proctor closed the wound. Dr. Potts and the girl were accompanied to Sedalia by Miss Eichholz and Rolla Salmons.

Clara Lee is in the seventh grade at Syracuse school.

US Engineers District Head Will Speak

He Will Address Flood Control Meeting Thursday

As an indication that the plan is attracting statewide attention, one of the persons who helped work out the plan in the beginning has been nominated for a high award, given annually for outstanding work in the field of public welfare through the American Public Welfare Association.

Miss Roseanne Dugan, director of the Pettis County Welfare Office, has been nominated for the Howard L. Russell Award for 1957, by the Missouri State Department of Public Welfare.

The plan works like this: The welfare office decides on worthy cases, druggists fill prescriptions at a reduced rate, Bothwell Hospital reduces hospital costs, the physician named by the county court donates his services and the county court picks up the bill.

Total costs of the plan in 1955, the first year of operation, was $11,022, with more than twice that amount, $22,738.27, expended in 1957. In 1956, the county court paid out $18,438.34. Some 222 persons were hospitalized in 1957, at an average cost per case of $79.33.

As compared with 1956, all costs have increased with the exception of the total costs of prescribed medicines, which have recorded a slight reduction. The 1957 costs total $1,627.37, while in 1956 the court paid out $1,646.35. Average cost of prescription increased during 1957, but fewer were written.

A breakdown of the 1957 report shows $17,612.40 was expended for hospital expenditures; $3,498.50 for medical services of county physician; and $1,627.37 for prescribed medicines. No funds were expended for orthopedic appliances or laboratory examinations.

Girl Perishes in Fire Started With Lighter

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11 (AP)—A two-year-old girl died today in a fire she apparently had started with a cigarette lighter.

The child was Denese Jean Shacklett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Shacklett.

The father said he believed the lighter fell out of his pocket as he was putting the girl to bed last night. It is believed she found it this morning and began playing with it before the rest of the family was awake.

Meeting Deadlock Reached

Soviet, West Fail To Agree on Issue Of Big Conference; Solution Predicted

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Russia and the Western powers reached complete deadlock today on the issue of holding a big East-West conference. But diplomats privately predict a foreign ministers' meeting, a summit session, or both later this year.

The prediction is based on a belief that both sides in the cold war need high level talks and that public opinion, particularly in Europe and in neutralist countries like India, is exerting a steady pressure for efforts to reduce the risks of nuclear war.

As the situation stood today: 1. Russia proposed through Bulgarian's messages Dec. 10 and Jan. 9 that Eisenhower and the other Western government heads agree to a top level meeting by April 9.

2. The U.S., British, and French governments quickly agreed that such a hastily called conference without adequate preparation would produce nothing except a sounding-board for Soviet propaganda. Therefore, they were against it, as Secretary of State Dulles made clear at a news conference yesterday.

3. The Western powers have agreed that the best way to start new talks with Russia is through a foreign ministers' meeting preceded by some exploratory work through diplomatic channels.

4. However, the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda carried an article today rejecting the informal Western suggestions so far made for a foreign ministers' meeting. It held that such a meeting "would be more likely to heap fresh obstacles in the way of a summit conference."

Frank W. Hayes, prominent Sedalia attorney, has filed for the office of circuit judge of the 30th Judicial District, on the Democratic ticket. Hayes filed his intentions with the Secretary of State in Jefferson City, Friday afternoon.

The 30th Judicial District is comprised of two counties, Pettis and Cooper. Judge Dimmitt Hoffman, Republican, is the present judge of the Circuit.

Hayes, who originally came from Salisbury, Mo., served in World War I. After the war he continued his education and received his AB degree from the University of Missouri, and the JD degree from the University of Chicago Law School.

In June, 1922, he was admitted to the Missouri Bar. He came to Sedalia in 1922 and since practiced law here. In 1938 he was elected prosecuting attorney of Pettis County and served in 1939-40.

Pastor Here 18 Years

Rev. Brunswick Given Transfer to Cole Camp

The Rev. Andrew J. Brunswick, C. P. S., who for the past 18 years has been pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, is being transferred to the St. Peter and Paul Church in Cole Camp.

Father Brunswick has not been very well the past year or so and is grateful for a smaller parish and one so near the place he has so long called home where he has made many, many friends in addition to the people of his own parish. Father Brunswick has been active in civic affairs, has cooperated in everything for the betterment of the town, and has served as president of the Kiwanis Club.

Many things have been accomplished in his parish since he has been here, the most recent the beautiful new addition to Sacred Heart School.

Father Brunswick was born in St. Wendelin, O., on Oct. 30, 1895, and entered the Community of Precious Blood to study for the priesthood in 1911. He was ordained at St. Charles Seminary, Carthage, O., on May 13, 1923, and his first assignment was at Sacred Heart Church in Sedalia in 1923 as assistant pastor, and he remained here until 1929. His second assignment was as pastor of the Holy Redeemer, Neb., from 1929 to 1932.

In 1932 he received his third assignment as chaplain of Alexian Brothers Hospital in Chicago, Ill., and in 1936 he received his fourth here.

Thinks Firm Action Needed

'Knock Some Heads Together' At Pentagon Johnson's Hope

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said today that action to "knock some heads together" at the Pentagon might produce more missiles.

The Democratic leader of the Senate said such firm action might be more effective than a reorganization of the Defense Department.

Johnson, who heads the Senate Preparedness subcommittee investigating the missile program, told reporters he foresees "considerable difficulty" ahead in President Eisenhower's announced plans to reshuffle the military system.

"There is considerable evidence to indicate that organizational forms have been stumbling blocks to achievement," Johnson said. "On the other hand, it may be that what is needed is a determined effort to knock some heads together rather than new organizational charts."

Johnson spoke out after the subcommittee was reported to have received reports from the Army, Navy and Air Force on proposals to revamp the present Joint Chiefs of Staff system.

The subcommittee has received suggestions that the joint chiefs — whose decisions usually are reached on a compromise basis of unanimity — be replaced by a single commander of the armed services.

The three services were said to have been unanimous in their separate reports to the subcommittee in opposing any such change. Members said that some complicated alternatives were suggested but declined to give any details.

Summing up the public positions taken by the services, Johnson said their reaction "has ranged from outright opposition to an attitude of 'let's not do it too fast.'"

American Jet Pilot Is Freed

He Returns to French Base For a Belated Christmas

CHATEAUROUX, France, Sunday, Jan. 12 (AP)—Maj. Howard Curran returned early today from 19 days captivity behind the Iron Curtain in Albania. He got a warm welcome from his three happy children.

The major's 4-year-old daughter Marylou leaped into his arms as he stepped out of the U.S. plane that brought him from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, and cried, "Daddy, don't go away again tonight."

"I've stayed away too long already," the 39-year-old Air Force officer said.

Mike, 12, and Patricia, 8, stood at his side beaming as he talked with reporters at his home Air Force base here. All through the Christmas holidays the children feared their father was dead. They were allowed to stay up long after their bedtime to welcome him and open gift packages.

The major, whose wife died two years ago, also was greeted by his brother, Lt. Richard P. Curran, 26, a jet pilot who flew from his post at Andrews Air Force Base in Washington 10 days ago after Maj. Curran was reported lost on a flight from his base to Naples, Italy.

Maj. Curran was missing for 13 days until Communist Albania announced Tuesday he was being held.

He told reporters he will make an issue of the fact the Albanians did not keep a promise to notify his family he had landed safely in Albania.

Not until he got out yesterday was he aware he had been reported missing and he indicated he was upset at the idea his family had thought him dead.

Although he was interrogated up to five hours a day during the first week he was in Albania he said "I feel I received no unduly harsh treatment under the circumstances."

The family left the base to go to Curran's apartment in a modern development a few miles from the base. The most immediate thing on the schedule was to open Christmas packages Curran had locked in a closet there for the children.

A U.S. transport plane assigned to the U.S. air attaché in Belgrade brought Curran from the Yugoslav capital. He also talked to reporters earlier at Belgrade.

He said his T33 jet trainer had been blown off course on a flight from Chateauroux to Naples and shortage of fuel had forced him to land, his radio dead, in Albania. He said he had been "treated very fairly."

In reporting on Curran, Tirana Radio had said jet fighters forced the trainer down.

The children, whose mother died two years ago, beamed when told their father was free.

The three were waiting for Christmas when their father disappeared. Then their presents were locked up in a closet in the hope he would be back soon.

Plans were made for the children to fly home next week. Then the news came that their father was alive.

Talking with reporters in Belgrade, Maj. Curran said he had felt free for only 10 minutes' flying over Albania and so put down on the first field he spotted.

More Nominations Wanted

John Dalton to Give DSA Address Here

Missouri's Attorney General John M. Dalton will be the guest speaker Jan. 23 at the seventh annual Distinguished Service Award Banquet of the Sedalia Jaycees.

This is the banquet at which the DSA will be presented by the Jaycees to the young man of Sedalia who will be selected as outstanding during 1957 in community service, character and personality. It may be a young man between the ages of 21 to 35 inclusive and he need not be a Jaycee. The selection will be made by a panel of five judges chosen from among leading Sedalians beyond the Jaycee age limit of 35.

Dalton said in a letter to President Don Richardson that he has been fortunate enough to be the speaker at several DSA banquets around the state and is looking forward to being in Sedalia. Dalton's son, John H. Dalton, a member of a law firm in Kennett, is an active Jaycee on the local and state levels.

The Sedalia banquet will be held at the Old Missouri Homestead, beginning at 7:15 p.m. Earlier it had been announced that the dinner would be held at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, but this was before the arrangements were final. Since the banquet is open to the public, tickets have been made

Rev. A. J. Brunswick

Leslie, Mo., Man Has Heart Attack Here

A man who identified himself as Wesley Pohlman, 62, suffered a minor heart attack while near 32nd and Limit avenue about 3:15 Saturday.

He was rushed to the Bothwell Hospital in the Ewing ambulance where he was treated and dismissed.

The man reported he lived on Route 2, Leslie, Mo., near Washington. The doctor purchased a railroad ticket for the man so he could continue on to his home. Pohlman was placed on a train later in the evening and headed for Washington, Mo.

Space Money Request Gets Fast Approval

House Committee Will Vote Monday After Minor Change

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower's request for authority to spend more than half a billion dollars on new emergency space age defenses this year won quick preliminary approval today in the House Armed Services Committee.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) said the committee will vote on the request Monday, after a technical change has been made in the bill to make it more specific.

Vinson said the committee was "in thorough agreement" with the measure as it was outlined at a 2½ hour closed session with Air Force officials.

The authorization bill is part of the $1,260,000,000 in supplemental defense funds which Eisenhower requested on an emergency basis for the fiscal year ending June 30. It would authorize these amounts:

1. 189 million dollars for work on a system of flash warnings of oncoming enemy ballistic missiles.
2. $112,400,000 to develop and procure long-range ballistic missiles.
3. $29,670,000 for further development of the SAGE system, a high speed warning - interceptor setup. The system blends electronic detecting devices and mechanical brains to provide semiautomatic and lightning fast guidance for aircraft, missiles, and rockets called into action against approaching enemy planes.
4. 194 million dollars for wider dispersal of Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers, and $24,600,000 for SAC alert facilities.

One other item $1,444,000 for road improvements at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., was knocked out of the bill, Vinson said, "because that's not an emergency." Vinson said the item will be included in a regular military public works bill later.

Sedalian's Home Is Gutted By Fire Saturday

Fire of undetermined origin did more than $2,500 damages to the residence and contents of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murray, 1615 East Fifth, about 5:58 p.m. Saturday.

The fire started in some overstuffed furniture and apparently had been burning sometime before the family arrived home. The living room of the house was gutted by the fire and all furnishings in the room destroyed.

Heat and smoke did considerable damage to the furnishings and clothing in other rooms of the home.

Murray arrived home and as he turned into his driveway, noticed smoke coming from the house. He called to other members of the family to run to the neighbors and call the fire department.

He then tried to get into the front room and pull out their television set but the smoke and flames were so intense he had to back away. Going around in back he tried to get water from the fire from a garden hose, but the endeavor was useless from the small stream.

Firemen using booster hose from the fire trucks soon had the flames whipped out, but not before extensive damage resulted. The damage was estimated at $1,500 to the residence which is owned by Bert Selvey, and $1,000 damages to the contents.

Russian Teleprinter Startles Monitors

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—A familiar "beep beep" like the voice of the Sputniks startled radio monitors in Europe and North America today. As many wondered whether a new satellite might have been fired, the Swedish government came up with the explanation: It was just the electronic groan of an idling Russian teleprinter.

Dinah Shore Says Health Is Success

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (U.P.)—"To be a success in show business," said Dinah Shore, "you don't have to be beautiful. You don't have to be smart—or talented. But you've sure got to be healthy."

At least once a year Miss Shore comes to New York to do a show or two. This season, happily, it will be two from New York via NBC-TV this Sunday and next. On Sunday evening her guests will be three Broadway stars, Art Carney, Julie Wilson and Chita Rivera. A week from Sunday her guests will be Ethel Merman, Cyril Ritchard, Andy Griffith and Gwen Verdon.

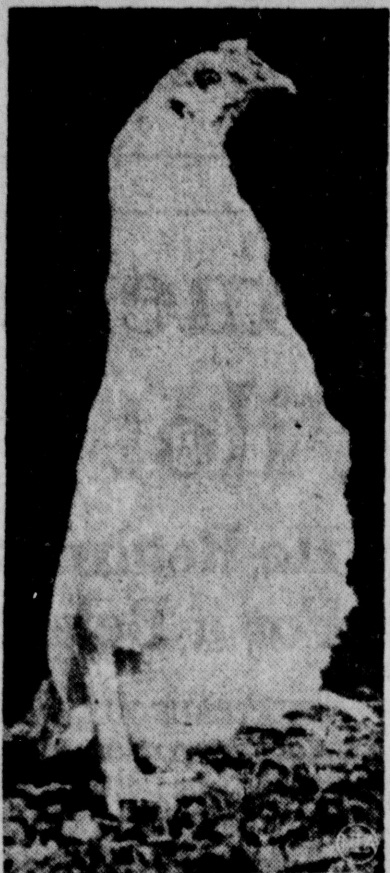

Whenever Miss Shore makes a pilgrimage to New York, I make a pilgrimage to see Miss Shore as president of the Dinah Shore Fan Club of Glen Ridge, N. J.

While drinking coffee we talk mostly about her husband George Montgomery, whom I haven't met, and my wife whom Miss Shore hasn't seen in—well, how many years is a deep secret. They used to play together when they were very young in Nashville, Tenn. Miss Shore went on to a strenuous career in show business. Mrs. Mercer went on to a strenuous career of getting me to the office on time.

Miss Shore's three hour-length shows every four weeks make for a strenuous career indeed. Her shows this season speak—and sing—for themselves, and she doesn't need to say a word about them. They're top in variety entertainment—and that's speaking as an objective so-called critic rather than as a subjective Dinah Shore fan.

The grind has left no visible marks on Miss Shore. She looks grand and still has the bounce of a new tennis ball. How does she do it? Does she diet or sleep 10 hours a night or what?

"Sometimes I cut down a little on food," she said, plunging a fork into a couple of eggs fried in butter after having slept six hours. "My regular weight is 128 and it's quite easy for me to stay there. Last summer we went abroad and I ate my way from one end of Europe to another. When we came back home I took it easy on food for a while and dropped right back to 128."

SICK CHICK?—A real sick chicken is this specimen, who makes like a penguin at Dions, France. Even without "formal attire," she high-hats the rest of the barnyard by walking around in this perpendicular position. The rest of the world's chicken population probably consider the upstart as mad as a wet hen.

College Study Helped Wife Of Explorer

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Studying geography at college comes in handy when you become the wife of an explorer, says Tay Thomas, wife of Lowell Thomas Jr.

The junior Thomases are following in the footsteps of Lowell's famous father, exploring the far corners of the earth together and helping out on production and filming of the current Lowell Thomas TV series High Adventure.

"Tay's a great traveler," says Lowell Jr. "We plan to take as many trips together as possible as soon as the children are a little older. Right now our little girl, Anne, is 2 and Lowell III is 6 months."

"We took our greatest trip in 1954—sort of a delayed honeymoon. We took a whole year and traveled all over Africa and the Middle East in our own airplane. We did a little work too filming a TV series called 'Our Flight to Adventure.'"

"We carried sleeping bags and four days' food supply on each leg of the trip. We used the plane for big jumps and then set off on foot to explore the country."

"We took some chances during part of the trip, flying over the Himalaya Mountains, on a course where there were no airways, no radio and no weather reporting, in a single-engine plane. But we were lucky, and Tay said she didn't mind if I didn't."

Lowell Jr. is a former instructor in the Air Force, and still flies his own private plane on lecture tours around the country. He has been well schooled by his adventurous father, having started his globe-trotting career at the age of 15, when Lowell Sr. arranged for him to accompany a movie camera man on a trip to South America with the U.S. Navy in 1939.

State Patrol Has Increased Record Files

The Missouri Highway Patrol Bureau of Identification and Records added 16,845 criminal fingerprint cards to its record section during 1957 and received 22,707 others which were identified as being identical with prints already filed there.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said that criminal fingerprints received by the Bureau showed a 7 per cent gain over the total received in 1956.

The annual report for the Identification Bureau released Jan. 3, 1958, showed that 1,890 non-criminal fingerprints also were processed during 1957. These are prints of applicants applying for jobs where identification is required for security reasons.

Col. Waggoner said that the bureau was established Aug. 1, 1934, in compliance with the law which requires the superintendent of the Patrol to collect, compile and keep available for the use of peace officers of the state such information deemed necessary for the detection of crime and identification of criminals.

During the first five months after its organization the bureau classified and filed 10,000 fingerprint records collected from various metropolitan police departments and sheriff's offices throughout the state. It now has on file 660,038 fingerprints. In the name card section there is now 1,067,574 cards of names and aliases of persons who have been arrested or who are wanted for violations of the law.

During 1957, 98,418 additional items of information were added to the records to aid in identification of criminals and bring their history up to date. And, 9,106 "wanted notices" were posted in the files to aid in the apprehension of persons wanted for violations by various departments throughout the United States.

Railroad Plans Special Series Of Excursions

The Missouri Pacific railroad is planning a series of special excursions to St. Louis like the "good old days." On Saturday, Jan. 18, there will be a special to St. Louis for the "Search for Paradise," a new cinerama picture to be shown at the Ambassador Theatre.

It is the newest of the Lowell Thomas Cinerama Productions and transports the theatre-goer on a 100,000-mile journey to the far-off lands of Kashmir, Tibet, Pakistan, Nepal and India. The sights and sounds of these mystic countries come to life through the Cinerama's giant screen and marvelous sound equipment.

Railroad officials report there will be a special showing of the picture for those who make the trip to St. Louis on the excursion.

The special will leave the Sedalia passenger depot at 6:30 a.m. arriving in St. Louis at 10:15. Passengers will be transferred to the theatre by bus for the more than two hour showing. After the show they are left to tour St. Louis and visit friends up to about 5 o'clock, when buses will pick up the passengers at a central location and take them to the St. Louis union station for the return trip to Sedalia. Leaving St. Louis at 5:30 p.m. and arriving time back home will be 9:10 p.m.

The excursion ticket will be $8.99 for the round trip by train, theatre admission and bus transportation for adults and $5.49 for children.

FAMILY AFFAIR—Connie and Ken Givans are one couple whose dental bills should be low. Both are attending dental college in Kansas City, Mo., and plan to practice together.

Still Mixed on Conditions

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Businessmen now have the President's views on the state of the union. But their own views on the state of business continue confused today. Most agree that over-all it is declining but in some sectors it's looking up.

New of rehiring is mixed in with reports of more layoffs. Strength of some commodity prices tempers the news of weakness in others.

Retail sales gains in some line offset dips in others.

Prospects of new defense orders hearten some primary producers and the large number of supplier industries that service them. But other companies report a slump in new orders.

Here are some of today's cross currents:

Chrysler announces it's laying off 4,000 workers in two of its automaking divisions. At the same time it says it will add 4,000 to its missile plants during this year and has already started hiring.

United Auto Workers officials say that General Motors is idling 8,800 workers around the country. Ford has reported cuts in employment. U. S. Rubber will idle 1,300 in tire-making plants.

Auto dealers' stocks are estimated at 740,000, which is 200,000 more cars than at the start of the year.

The plight of many railroads has been well aired of late. Overall employment in the rail industry has slipped below a million for the first time in 18 years.

Layoffs in the steel industry have become commonplace. But Republic Steel is calling off its announced plan to idle 1,500 in Alabama.

International Harvester reports its employment rolls are now 1,000 fatter than a month ago.

On the commodity front price weakness has reappeared in copper, zinc and lead continue on the weak side. Price weakness plague producers of wool, coffee, tea and rubber.

New Canadian Dollar Gives Indians Chill

VANCOUVER, B. C. (U.P.)—That new Canadian dollar may just be more wampum to the white folks, but to West Coast Indians it's memloose chicken man, death money.

The design for the new dollar, struck to commemorate the British Columbia centennial this year, was submitted by Stephen Trenka of Thornhill, Ont.

Trenka used a totem pole motif which he said was inspired by the raven myth of the Haida Indians of British Columbia.

Then Guy Williams, a spokesman for the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia, saw the coin. He said it pictured the mimloose Indian mortuary totem, which has as its crowning figures the likeness of a bear mother and her son.

Therefore, Williams said, the dollar was memloose chicken man, death money, and no West Coast Indian would dare handle the new coin.

Williams is supported by Mrs. Ellen Neel of Vancouver, an authority on the vanishing art of totem carving.

Wilson Duff, curator of anthropology at the Provincial Museum at Victoria, says the design closely follows the top portion of a sketch in the museum of a Haida totem.

The Haida myth of the raven tells how a supernatural raven transformed primeval darkness into order by stealing the sun from its hiding place and bringing light to the world.

Even if the new coin's design is derived from the raven myth, it is not suitable, Mrs. Neel contends.

She said some variations of the raven myth are pornographic and unsuitable for general explanation.

Canadian Sen. Thomas Reid of New Westminster, B. C., advised provincial authorities he has asked the government for an official statement on the exact significance of . . . the totem on the coin.

ABWA Picks Its Officers For New Year

Miss Ella Peithman was elected president of the American Business Women's Association for the coming year at a meeting held Tuesday evening at the Bothwell Hotel.

Other new officers elected and installed were: vice-president, Mrs. Nathalia Poynter; recording secretary, Mrs. Carolyn Geer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Alice Snyder; treasurer, Mrs. Opal Self.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Evelyn Rabourn, president, and invocation was given by Miss Nellie White.

The guest speaker of the evening was the Rev. Kenneth L. Davidson, pastor of the East Sedalia Baptist Church, who gave an inspiring talk on "Prayer."

Probably the most popular theme in the scripture, he said, is "Prayer." It is a valuable thing in home life and particularly where there are children. Prayer is an important factor in a child's life and it seems to be an inspiration both to the child and the adults when a child folds his hands at the table and takes his turn in saying grace.

Many times, said Rev. Davidson, people say: "Lord, teach me how to pray." We may not know how, he explained, but we have the desire to pray. Men have prayed at home, in public, in the sky and on the sea, and they have prayed for many things. Such men as Daniel, David, Elijah, Paul and Jonas have showed us how to pray, he said.

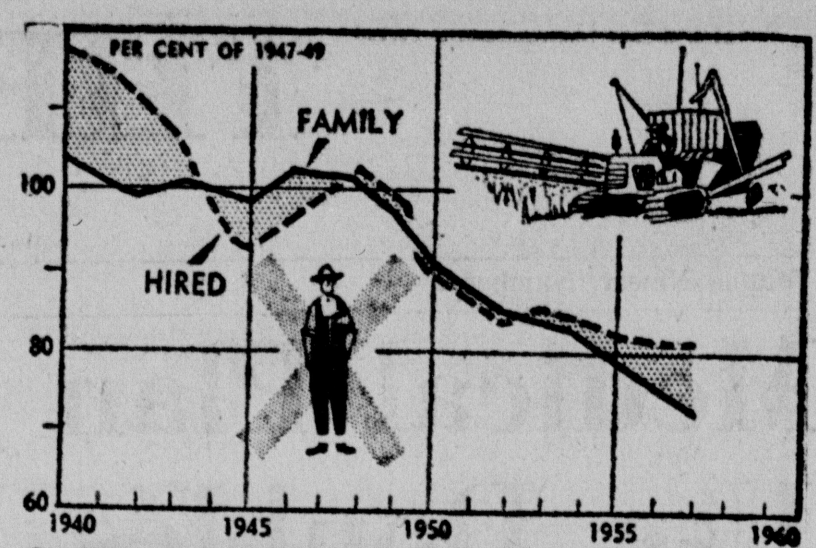

There are short prayers and long prayers offered in the morning, at night, in sickness and death, in childhood and in old age. Prayer is not asking for something, nor arguing with God, the speaker said, it is not begging for personal goodness. Prayer is an invitation to God to talk with us. Prayer is a time to talk to and to listen to God, it is a power and enables us to lay hold on God's willingness to help us.

Prayerless people, Rev. Davidson said, accomplish little in life. When men pray great victories are won. We should talk to God about our needs and he will supply those needs. What is prayer? It is communication with God.

A vote of thanks was given to the out-going officers for their work during the past year.

The benediction was given by Miss Jessie White.

An arrangement of white carnations was on the speaker's table and on the other tables were yellow and white chrysanthemums in gold baskets.

In Television All Heroes Not Reported

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP) — In television, as in an army at war, not all the heroes are reported in dispatches from the front. Behind every well-known name and program there are relatively unknown persons involved in the detailed, vexatious and occasionally exhilarating—job of production.

Take the case of Mitch Leiser, born 32 years ago in Paris, who fled the German occupation with his parents when he was 16 and came to the United States. Becoming an American citizen, he worked his way through the University of Michigan — where he majored in international affairs — by running a night club in Ann Arbor. His heart was set on entering the diplomatic service.

"Then I discovered something interesting," he recalls. "To make a career of diplomacy you must either be very dedicated or have a private income. I was too young to be dedicated and I certainly didn't have a private income."

After graduation, the infant medium of television caught his eye and he found a beginner's berth with CBS. Seven years ago he joined Goodson-Todman Productions, TV program-packaging firm. And there he's been ever since.

Today he is — what would you call him? — general factotum or expediter or man of all troubles or what you will for four of the firm's programs: "The Price is Right" (NBC-TV), "I've Got a Secret" (CBS-TV), "What's My Line?" (CBS-TV) and "To Tell the Truth" (CBS-TV).

Leiser works an average of 72 hours a week, but most of that time is spent on the one night-time and five daily shows of "The Price is Right." In his own words, "It's like no other show I've ever worked on. I'm completely taken up with products — hundreds of products from all over the country."

Relatively small item that consumed a large amount of his time: the show received 52 hams weighing about 40 pounds apiece which had to be hung from the proscenium of the stage. The proscenium positively wouldn't hold the weight of hams, so Leiser spent hours that seemed like days finding counterweights before the hams could be hung.

Then there was the celebrated case of the cabin cruiser which had to be rolled up a ramp to the studio stage entrance. The door was seven inches too narrow for the cruiser. After 10 weeks of negotiations between Leiser and NBC the entrance was widened — allowing exactly one-half inch clearance from the cruiser. A total of 22 stage hands finally rolled it in.

Autos, airplanes, packages huge and tiny, you name your product and Leiser can tell you the problems involved in moving it in and out of a Manhattan studio.

Working 72 hours a week doesn't leave him much time to spend with his wife and child in suburban Riverdale, N.Y. What does his wife think of his schedule?

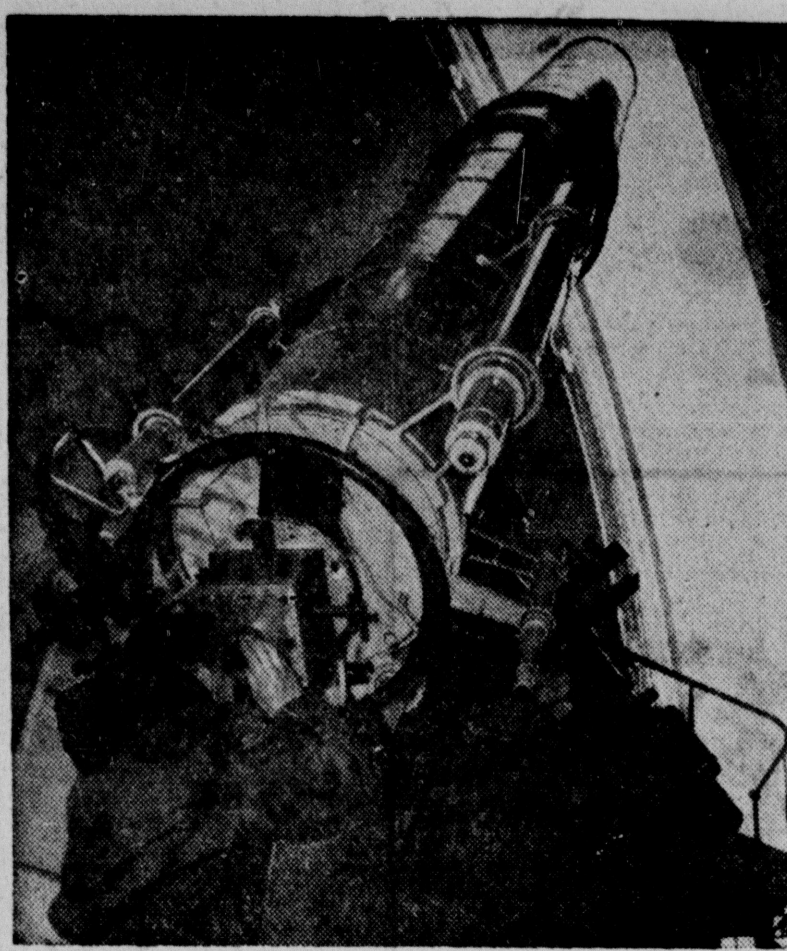

"She objects sometimes a little," Leiser said. "But I always remind her that when we were married in this country I had the French public law 50 read into the ceremony. Public law 50 of the old Napoleonic Code says in effect that the man wears the pants."

Vocal Postcard Need Grew Into a Million Dollar Idea

NEW YORK (AP) — The Army is supposed to build men.

It did even better by Cy Leslie, a big ex-sergeant in the Signal Corps. It gave him the initial idea that led to a multimillion-dollar-a-year business.

Cy, who is 35 and has the height and the heft of a professional football tackle, today is known as "the king of the kiddle records." Last month his firm pressed its 100 millionth record for children.

"Looking back, I guess I owe a lot to the Army," he said.

At the time—during World War II — Leslie didn't figure, however, the Army was doing him much of a favor by sending him to such places as New Guinea and the Philippines. He was lonely, as all soldiers are lonely.

One day he got a greeting card from his mother, back in Brooklyn. Gazing at the greeting card, Leslie mused: "Boy, if this thing could only talk!"

If only a greeting card could talk, Cy brooded over the thought. Well, why couldn't a greeting card carry a vocal message? He decided it could.

Released from the Army in 1946, Leslie gambled his savings on creating a line of recorded two-bit greeting cards.

"I had only $1,100 — and I put every penny into it," Cy recalled.

"We wrote our own lyrics and music. I slept on the desks at night because I was too tired to go home. My mother even helped by trimming the paper-based records with her scissors."

"The cards caught on fast. The first year we took in $25,000, the second year $300,000. They couldn't give them away. The cards were a fad, and the fad was over."

Cy then decided to take an even bigger gamble — to enter the kiddie record field in competition with the major companies. He decided the only way he could win was to put out a 25-cent product and aim for a new mass field through supermarkets, toy stores, and mail order houses.

"I picked up a number of then unknown singers and used them to make children's records," he recalled.

"Later on some of them went on to fame in the adult music field."

And Cy, who now has three children of his own, made one other major decision — that none of his musical versions of classic fairy tales and fables would have frightening endings.

"We'd rather take a few liberties with the story than scare a child," he said. "In our record of Little Red Riding Hood, the bad wolf is caught and tied up — but he isn't axed. We don't want to give kids nightmares."

Leslie's cricket label line for tots succeeded so phenomenally that now he has begun a new line of low-priced albums for the adult market.

How was this ex-sergeant able to go out and carve his own growing empire in a 400-million-a-year industry ruled by giant companies?

"Guts and ignorance," said Leslie. "There were many times when, if we really had known what we were up against, we probably should have quit — but we didn't."

"We work on the theory that dollars are what count — not percentages. If you have the volume — and you'll get the volume if your product is good and your price is low — you'll get the dollars."

Making The Rounds
NEW YORK (AP) — A young actress is making a career out of the play "Career."

Mary James played the role of a talent agent when the drama about show business opened to critical success off-Broadway last spring. She withdrew from the company to create the same part in a Philadelphia production, then went off to the West Coast when "Career" was done in Los Angeles. Those stints completed, she returned to the original production.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City was $2.88 richer after Mayor Robert F. Wagner swore in 45 incumbent commissioners and officials and two new appointees in ceremonies at City Hall.

Under a city statute more than 100 years old, each of the commissioners had to pay a filing fee of 6 cents before taking office.

One legal official said Robert Moses forgot to pay his 12 cents — he was sworn in as parks commissioner and as city construction coordinator — but there was enough money left over to cover him because other commissioners didn't bother to pick up their change.

Unemployment Situation Tight As More Workers Are Laid Off

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Workers in increasing numbers are being laid off across the nation. Many others are working only parttime with consequently reduced paychecks.

A government report due next week is expected to show unemployment for December was somewhere between 3½ and 4 million.

The official count was 3,188,000 in November, a third higher than the 2,463,000 in November 1956, and the highest November jobless figure since 1949.

Practically every sign points to the job situation getting worse. Figures for production, income and profits all have been declining.

On the hopeful side are cautiously optimistic predictions that conditions may taper off in the spring and begin picking up again at mid-year.

Some hopes are based on increased government spending and gains in construction.

Payments of unemployment compensation are helping tide over idled workers and cushion loss of buying power. Christmas buying, for example, stayed up well despite the jobless gain.

Benefits average $25 weekly, ranging from $25 to $45 and in some instances higher. But idle workers forfeit rights to benefits after a specified period, usually 23 weeks.

Some industries — principally steel, autos, electrical and glass — have supplemental unemployment benefit plans which augment these government jobless payments.

These plans cover over two million workers, most of them undertaking to boost the state payment by enough to give the workers 65 per cent of his normal take-home pay for four weeks, 60 per cent for up to 22 additional weeks.

An Associated Press survey of the nation's key labor market and production areas shows that unemployment is mounting fast.

About 6 per cent of New York State's six million workers are idle. The same proportion holds true for Pittsburgh. Around Detroit it's 8.8 per cent, around Seattle 10 per cent.

The government classifies an area with 6 per cent or more unemployed as "distressed"—or in serious economic shape. When and if countrywide unemployment tops four million the nation as a whole will be in the "distressed" category, affecting 6 per cent of the 68-million-person labor force.

In Texas, 56,223 workers filed unemployment compensation claims for the week ended Jan. 2, doubling the load for the same week a year ago. Ted Clifford of the Texas Employment Commission said, "The total is way beyond our wildest forecasts."

A lot of people look to the government—the administration and Congress—to give the lagging economy a boost.

But expected increases in expenditures for missiles, research and other defense items to match Russia's space conquests probably can't come fast enough to help the economy much in early 1958.

Mrs. Tora McCready, research director of the Seattle Industrial Council, says people's attitudes are the important thing now.

"If they remain calm, we're likely to weather this storm easily," she said. "If they panic, general harm may ensue."

Everyone is blaming someone else for the decline. Business says labor costs spurred an inflationary spiral that is now having a natural leveling off. Labor claims business creamed off too much profits and curtailed purchasing power. Democrats blame Republican "tight money" policies. Republicans say business is just having a normal adjustment after prolonged prosperity.

Here is what The Associated Press found in key economic and population centers:

LOS ANGELES—Unemployment is 91,500 compared with 50,900 a year ago. But the area has 2,524,000 employed, exceeding the 2,505,000 of a year ago. Aircraft and related industries are hurting most, due to production cutbacks. Plane plants have multibillion-dollar backlogs of orders, but some have switched to missile and rocket development. This takes fewer and more skilled workers. But the missile-rocket work force will expand when mass production comes later. Aircraft industries spokesman says, "We're not optimistic, but we're not pessimistic either."

BOSTON—About 150,000 are now receiving unemployment compensation in New England. Nonfarm employment was generally high in 1957 until a weakening trend began in August. Factory employment at 1,429,100 is 78,100 below a year ago. Nonmanufacturing jobs, on the other hand, are at 2,160,700, or 25,800 above a year ago. The job loss is greatest in textiles, shoes, leather, machinery, metal-working and electrical manufacturing.

CHICAGO—110,000 were unemployed in the area at the end of December compared with 70,000 a year earlier. Roy F. Cummins, State Labor Department director, says the jobless trend rose steadily during 1957 but at an increased rate since October. Cummins forecast a spring job pickup.

NEW YORK—The state had 372,000 idle in December, or 6 per cent of the labor force, a 44 per cent increase over a year ago. The relatively biggest layoffs are in upstate communities with heavy industries and defense plants. B. Colwell Davis Jr., executive director of the New York City Chamber of Commerce, says, "Many feel that signs in the wind look encouraging perhaps for the middle of the year."

BIRMINGHAM—Area employment is off about 6,000 from 245,900 a year ago. Steel and aircraft industries are the hardest hit. State Labor Council President Barney Weeks says there is no sign of any upturn yet, but "we're hoping that awakening to our defense needs may change the picture."

DETROIT—Mid-December jobless totaled 135,000 or 8.8 per cent of the labor force, comparing with 83,000 or 5.4 per cent a year earlier. Michigan has 226,000 jobless or 7.7 per cent, compared with 142,000 or 4.8 per cent a year earlier. Cutbacks in defense orders and the effects of automation are blamed partly for the jobless trend. The Detroit Board of Commerce looks for gradual employment recovery leading to a fourth-quarter 1958 job peak.

PITTSBURGH—The area employment in mid-November was 922,300, compared with 933,700 a year earlier; unemployment was 54,000 compared with 37,200. Hardest hit are steel, transportation equipment, electrical, and machinery manufacturing. Steel firm officials say a low production rate may continue well into spring.

Large Attendance

Forty-one members were present for Our Lady's Circle No. 222, Daughters of Isabella meeting Monday evening, Jan. 6, in St. Andrew's Club Room. Rosary in church preceded the meeting. Miss Madeline Knipp, vice-regent, presided in the absence of the regent, Mrs. Estella Hake.

The Rev. Harry Cavanaugh gave a short talk on the feast of the day, the Epiphany. Miss Agnes Wolf was given short form initiation. Refreshments were served by the committee.

Jan. 23, 4-H Tractor Maintenance Leaders training meeting at Warrensburg.

Missouri 4-H Annual Report
At this time of year we are looking forward to the New Year with its challenges, its opportunities and its promises. Today, however, we want to take one glance over our shoulder at 1957. In retrospect 1957 was a good year. Missouri had an all-time record in the number of 4-H members enrolled, 62 short of 36,000. We had an all-time high in the number that completed a year of club work, over 28,000. The high ten counties in enrollment are: New Madrid, 1477; Pemiscot, 1046; Jackson, 1017; Johnson, 693; Buchanan, 649; Cass, 603; Jasper, 559; Pettis, 551; Bates, 538; Mississippi, 532.

With Butler, St. Charles and Nodaway close runners-up. The highest counties in the percentage of enrollment that were given credit for meeting all the requirements for a year of club work were: Ste. Genevieve, 94.4; Lafayette, 93.8; Macon, 93.7; Sullivan, 93.1; Carroll, 92.9; Chariton, 92.3; Cooper, 91.8; Barton, 91.3; Nodaway, 91.3; Audrain, 90.9.

With Platte and Linn also in the 90 per cent bracket.

Now counties that have an enrollment of 500 or more with an 85 per cent or better completion are: Lafayette, 519, 93.8; Nodaway, 507, 91.3; Buchanan, 649, 89.2; Pettis, 551, 86.6; Bates, 538, 86.4; St. Charles, 503, 84.7. Cass is very close with 603 and 84 per cent completion.

Well, so much for the start and finish record. Let's see what projects rate highest with young people. The projects in agriculture and home economics are still the hard core of 4-H work. That is where the "work" comes in. Do you realize that no other youth movement in this country has the word "work" attached?

It was sort of neck and neck in the popularity contest between clothing and food and nutrition projects with a slight margin in favor of foods. Both had over 11,500 members enrolled.

Animal projects still rated first in agriculture with over 10,000 but the agricultural engineering project ran a close second with over 9000.

Junior leadership again made a substantial gain - 2612 were enrolled this past year or nearly 25 per cent of those of eligible age. Of that membership, 31.4 per cent are 14 years of age and over.

There were six International Farm Youth Exchange delegates from Missouri this year. Fifty-one members participated in national events; 1500 in state events.

Mao Bows to Moscow

Ruler of 640 Million People Is Content to Rank Second

HONG KONG (U)—Mao Tse-tung rules a staggering 640 million people. And his Communist party—with 12 million members—is the world's largest, even bigger than that of Russia.

But Red China's boss is content to leave world communist leadership to Moscow and the man who seems to be his exact opposite, Nikita Khrushchev.

They met recently during the celebrations in Moscow of the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. It was a study on contrasts—Mao, reserved, quiet, the thinker, poet and scholar; Khrushchev, flamboyant, master of the wisecrack, a boisterous drinker.

Mao is in no hurry to take the helm in the global communist movement. He knows that once China has industrialized, the very weight of his country's numbers—it will be a billion by 1960—will give it to him, or his successors.

Meanwhile, he is in the enviable position of being communism's most revered living figure, without being committed to the harsh decisions which often have alienated Moscow from the rest of the communist world.

And his influence among the satellites, and in Russia itself, continues to make itself felt.

A few, almost imperceptible creases have crept into his moon-like face, and there is a dash of gray in his receding black hair. But, at 64, Mao gives every evidence of being more robust than he was 12 years ago.

And his control over the Red leadership appears more secure than ever. To the rank-and-file, he is more than a leader. He is a symbol of Chinese communism.

Though he is a disciple of Karl Marx, the bourgeois German who gave birth to communism in the last century, Mao has refused to apply Marxism in China on the Russian model.

He has insisted that there are separate roads to communism, depending on circumstances in each country. Moscow has permitted him this view, but it has discouraged its acceptance in the communist countries of eastern Europe it seeks to control. Mao reasserted China's independence during the Moscow celebrations when he said, "The Chinese revolution has its own national characteristics and it is entirely necessary to take these into consideration."

Khrushchev may not have liked it, but he also proclaimed, as he has in the past, the right of other communist nations to follow their own national bent on the way to socialism.

It was clear, he said, that if a proletarian revolutionary of any country failed to apply the lessons and experience of the Russian revolution "in a creative way in the light of specific conditions in his own country, he would not be able to master Leninism, which represents a new stage in the development of Marxism, and he would not be able to solve the problems of revolution and construction in his own country correctly."

Against the fanfare and publicity given the Russians' Sputniks, these words made few headlines. But their significance probably was not wasted on the representatives of the European satellites who were present.

Mao had been scheduled to make a swing through the satellite states on his way back to Moscow. But, suddenly, without explanation he canceled it and flew directly to Peiping.

The reason has never been given, but it now seems possible Khrushchev persuaded him that his presence in Warsaw, Budapest and Belgrade might have been regarded there as encouragement for those who sought greater independence from Moscow.

Mao climbed to prominence in world communism in the 1930s when he defied Moscow's directives on how to carry out the revolution in China. Instead of basing his strength on the proletariat, or working class, which was small and weak, he turned to the peasants. Through agrarian reforms, and an army of peasants, he swept to victory in 1949 over the Chinese Nationalists.

Then, as today, he paid public lip service to the Moscow leadership. He made some grave mistakes by following Stalin's instructions in the years that followed. But by then he had achieved his goal—in his own way.

Woman Seeks Hearing Aid For Her Dog

DALLAS (U)—A woman violinist today sought a hearing aid for her pet, a symphony-loving cocker spaniel who was deafened last week by pranksters' firecrackers.

Miss Catherine Pierce, a violinist for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, said she left her 14-year-old cocker Grubby in her car last Saturday while she visited some friends.

She said when she returned, the interior of the car had been damaged and her dog deafened by firecrackers thrown into the vehicle.

A veterinarian told Miss Pierce her dog was completely deaf. He said the dog's eardrums were not broken, but told her Grubby suffered a hearing collapse because he is such an old dog.

Miss Pierce said her dog had always appeared to love music. Grubby was a regular sight in the wings of auditoriums when the orchestra was playing.

Grubby's mistress said when she and her friends got together at her home for string quartet sessions, Grubby would lie on the floor for hours without making a sound.

"He really seemed to like music," Miss Pierce said. Only once did Grubby bark during a concert, she said. That was some time ago when the symphony had a guest tympanist who used a lot of cymbals in his performance.

"The vet told me his hearing might return in time," she said, "and since the ear-runs are not broken I have some hope something can be worked out. I'm going to try to fix up a hearing aid."

Miss Pierce said Grubby did not appear to be in pain, although "there's some sensitivity around the ears and he's quieter than usual."

Did you know that beef with barbecue sauce comes in cans? It was made.

World's largest bell is at Moscow, Russia. The "Tsar Kolokol," great bell of Moscow, weighs 210 tons. It was never rung because an 11-ton piece broke off when it was made.

Marian Morrison Heard At Helen G. Steele Music Club

Marion Morrison, lyric soprano, appeared as guest artist at the Helen G. Steele Music Club on Wednesday afternoon at the Heard Memorial Club House.

Mrs. Morrison, wife of Max M. Morrison, a civilian employee at the Whiteman Air Base moved to Sedalia with her family last fall. Possessing a voice particularly colorful and warm and of wide range, Mrs. Morrison is capable of executing the most difficult coloratura cadenzas, as well as projecting depth and rich color in her middle and low registers. She knows a flair for singing and an ability to project the emotional content of a song. As an interpreter, she revealed unusual ability to form beautiful phrases and to create subtle patterns of appealing beauty. Each number on the program was impressively sung with a clarity of tone and diction. Her stage presence was most gracious and well poised.

Marian Morrison has a wonderful background training. She has studied in Houston, Tex., with the renowned European operatic baritone, Edward Bing; in San Francisco, Calif., with Easton Kent, well known West Coast teacher and in New York City with the late Metropolitan operatic tenor, Paul Althouse. She coached with Desire Deufre and Ernesto Barbi of the Metropolitan opera staff and in Dallas, Texas, with Henry Sanderson, widely respected organist, pianist and teacher of singing. In New York City she was soloist at St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Methodist Church for Everett Tutchings, now choirmaster of Christ Methodist Church on Park Avenue. In Houston she was soloist

Shopping Centers Change Buying Habit

CHICAGO (AP)—A newspaper advertising executive says the increase in suburban shopping centers has changed buying habits of many Americans.

"The overwhelming response to regional shopping centers makes clear the shopper wants and enjoys far more from a store than a warehouse atmosphere," Pierre Martineau said yesterday.

Martineau, director of research and marketing for the Chicago Tribune, addressed a meeting of furniture dealers in Chicago for the annual winter home furnishings market.

Martineau said one characteristic of the suburban shopping center is an increase in the number of husbands and wives who shop together. "In some suburban centers, furniture volume runs as high as 65 per cent in the evening when the husband is able to go along."

He said newspaper studies show shoppers often pass judgment on merchandise "not so much in terms of merchandise values as in terms of store personality."

The principal tributaries are Blackwater River, Salt Fork, Davis Creek, Clear Creek, Post oak Creek, Heaths Creek, Muddy Creek, Richland Creek.

The Lamine River Basin is subject to frequent floods caused by run-off from intense storms. Floods have occurred every month of the year, the period most frequent is April through June. The average annual damage during 1941 to 1951 inclusive is $1,014,000.

Thousands of acres of bottom land have been made idle by the floods which occur several times every year. The idle land could be made productive with the construction of the flood control projects and the crops yields on the present farm lands could be greatly increased.

Steve Jackson, Boonville, is president of the Blackwater-Lamine Flood Control Association Inc. Arrangements for the meeting have been made by P. Cecil Owen, director of the tourists and conventions division of the Chamber of Commerce, and Curt Weaver, chairman.

'Sorghum Alum' Sale Is Illegal, Says Williamson

The Missouri State Department of Agriculture announced today that they've received information that seed peddlers are offering for sale within the state a weed pest known as "Sorghum Alum" in violation of a recent order by Commissioner John Sam Williamson prohibiting its sale.

Director of the Department's Feed and Seed Division, Victor Gray, said the prohibited weed is a cross between Johnson Grass and a species of sorghum, and the persons who developed it have made several claims to its usefulness. However, said Gray, it is the department's opinion that the seed is definitely a weed pest. He added that the seed cannot be identified as different from Johnson Grass, also a prohibited weed in the state, and that it was possible that salesmen were passing quantities of Johnson Grass seed in the new cross.

Seed peddlers were said to have been charging as much as $3 a pound for the new species of weed, and used as a sales gimmick the offer to buy seed from the customer in the future.

The Department of Agriculture advised farmers to immediately notify the Feed and Seed Division in Jefferson City, if persons offered Sorghum Alum for sale in their vicinity.

'Desert Fox' Of Iran Dies In Gunfight

TEHRAN, Iran, Jan. 11 (AP)—The notorious "Desert Fox," long hunted for the killing of three Americans, was shot dead today in a blistering gun fight in the desert wilds, police announced.

Gen. Aligholi Golpira, Iran's national police commander, said the end for bandit leader Dadsah came in a fight with his police near Haft Kuh, in southeastern Iran not far from the Pakistan frontier.

Golpira had moved his headquarters into the area to supervise Iran's great manhunt for the bandit king, often reported brought to bay in his mountain hideouts but never bagged until now.

Police long had wanted Dadsah, but they stepped up the hunt for him at the urging of the Shah of Iran after the bandit and his men ambushed the three Americans in that area nearly 10 months ago.

The victims were Kevin M. Carroll, 37, of Issaquah, Wash., a Point Four area development adviser; his pretty wife, Anita, 35; and Brewster A. Wilson, 35, of Portland, Ore., a specialist of the Near East Foundation and contractor for the International Cooperation Administration in Iran.

Holland Furnace Co. Joins Home Council

John Bess, branch manager of the Holland Furnace Co., announced here today that his company has become one of the first members of the Home Improvement Council. The Council is a national, industry-wide organization to help homeowners protect their homes from costly deterioration, and to help them take specific, sound steps to increase the value of their homes.

Bess pointed out that one of the major purposes of the Council and its members is to help local families visualize ways they can make their homes more comfortable, more convenient, more attractive to live in and easier to maintain.

"So often local people see exciting ideas for remodeling or redecorating their homes in the big national ads and magazine pictures, but have no idea how to get the same effect in their own homes," Bess continued. "Nor do they have any idea of where to turn first for help locally or how to proceed. The Home Improvement Council has been set up to help answer these needs for local people through special community projects and a vast new educational program."

A moment of silent prayer and singing of "Faith of Our Fathers" was tribute paid the late Senior Major Fred Hodgeman, Kiwanian. Jack Allgaier was welcomed back after an absence due to illness.

In song, led by Abe Rosenthal, the club congratulated J. C. Griffin on his recent marriage.

Guests were: Jim Carter with Dan Wolf; First Lt. John Reed, Cambridge, Mass., with Russell Maag; Jack Faber; and Arthur Kiang from Texas.

Invocation was by the Rev. Arthur Schmidt.

Children Need Toys At Melita Nursery

Toys are needed at the Melita Day Nursery. This year, according to Mrs. Lucy Rabourn, supervisor, the nursery did not receive Christmas toys as they usually do, and with the winter weather the children play more in the house and want toys. The toys need not be new ones, old toys will be fine, said Mrs. Rabourn, and anyone having toys may call the nursery, TA 6-5040 and they will be called for.

Eastern Star Officers Installed During Temple Meeting Monday

Monday evening, Dec. 30, at 8 p.m. installation ceremonies for the 1958 officers of Pettis Chapter, No. 279, Order of Eastern Star, were held at the Masonic Temple. The East was beautifully decorated using a garden theme. The white backdrop was bordered with greenery through which silver rope was woven. Two cherubs held a musical score under which were the watchwords for the year—Love, Loyalty and Service. The floor covering was white. A white picket fence entwined with red roses and greenery and white wrought iron chairs were used to carry out the garden theme and on the backs of the star point chairs were silver lyres entwined with red roses.

Preceding the ceremonies Mrs. E. B. Bess, pianist, presented a musical prelude.

The Bible ceremony was presented by members of Job's Daughters, in white satin robes, who formed a cross west of the altar. Members of the Order of DeMolay, in black robes, formed a shadow of the cross. The scripture was read by Virginia Chamberlain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Chamberlin. Donna Nave, at the piano, and Carolyn Nave, violin, played during the ceremony, and accompanied Mrs. Charles Farley, who sang, "Hold Thou My Hand."

The American Flag was borne to the East by Roy Gwinn, escorted by Jimmie Gwinn and Milton Chamberlin. Roy and Jimmie Gwinn are grandsons of Mrs. Jesse Gwinn, and Milton Chamberlin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Chamberlin. The tribute was given by Roy Gwinn.

Mrs. Homer Gwinn gave a tribute to the OES flag, assisted by three retiring officers in red satin capes who outlined the red star points with wide red ribbon.

Mrs. George Chamberlin, retiring worthy matron, introduced Mrs. Frank Coffman, past grand matron, and John Owen, past grand patron of the Order of the Eastern Star of Missouri, and Mrs.

Community Garden Club Will Sponsor

The Community Garden Club of Blackwater met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. H. Williams with seven members present.

The next meeting of the club will be in conjunction with the PTA in observation of Founders Day. One project of the club is to complete the planting of evergreens on the school ground.

During the social hour refreshments were served.

Mrs. Merle Matthews presented the Star points their colors in a most impressive ceremony.

Mrs. Jesse Gwinn was presented a huge bouquet of red roses and white carnations, a gift from her chapter. The flowers were brought to the East in a little white cart decorated with red roses. Two little granddaughters of the worthy matron, Ruth Ann and Mary Gwinn, dressed in identical red dresses, pulled the cart. Another granddaughter, Delores Gwinn, in a white dress made the presentation and Jimmie Gwinn sang: "Love Sends a Little Gift of Roses."

In a humorous ceremony the officers pledged their loyalty to the worthy matron and worthy patron for 1958.

Mrs. William L. Reed presented the retiring worthy matron, Mrs. George Chamberlin, her jewel. The retiring worthy patron, Homer Gwinn, was presented his jewel by his father, Jesse Gwinn.

A reception honoring the worthy matron, worthy patron and their officers was held in the dining room.

The installation was unique in that the worthy matron and the worthy patron of 1957 are being replaced by their husband and mother, respectively.

Mark Rutherford

Church Leader Will Speak Here Thursday

Well-known leader of men's work in the Christian Church will be the speaker at a meeting of men at First Christian on Thursday, Jan. 16.

Mark Rutherford is the assistant executive secretary of the department of men's work of the United Christian Missionary Society. His offices are in Indianapolis, Ind.

In 1945, Rutherford, who was a druggist by profession and had been in the drug business for 25 years, entered full-time church work. He had been manager of a wholesale drug company in South Texas. He began in local church work, where he was expediting programs and leading men in an aggressive church program. He served in this capacity for a year and a half.

Then, for two and a half years, Rutherford worked with the churches in Oklahoma. He was the first full-time director of men's work, on a state level, in the Disciples' brotherhood.

On Jan. 1, 1949, he joined the United Society's department of men's work. Since his appointment, Christian churches have seen an increase in local and state men's groups, regular production of materials for laymen, organization of the National Christian Men's Fellowship Advisory Commission, development of retreats for laymen and increases in support of missions by men. The department also has extended its

'Japan' Is Program Topic at WSCS Meet

Twenty seven members were present at the January meeting of the California WSCS which was held at the California Methodist Church Monday evening. The quiet hour which preceded the general meeting was conducted by Mrs. G. A. Schmolzi.

The devotion for the general meeting was led by Mrs. Ray Stewart and the program "Japan Today" was presented by Mrs. C. W. Cartwright.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. William Todd. The World Day of Prayer was announced for Feb. 21.

Mrs. J. T. Lee, spiritual life chairman, presented the Epiphany day service. The hostesses, Mrs. Victor Gray, Mrs. Neil Newton, Mrs. H. W. Schmidt and Miss Mary McColister, served cookies and punch from the lace covered table.

services to men's groups in Jamaica and Puerto Rico.

Since 1952, Rutherford has traveled around the world in the interest of Christian men's work. He has visited many Disciple foreign missions and assisted in organizing a nationwide men's fellowship in Australia among churches of Disciples of Christ there.

In traveling across the United States in behalf of the United Society, Rutherford has spoken in many cities. His concern has been to challenge the commitment of men to the total task of the church.

If A City Could Talk Back

Not a day goes by without members of the human fraternity adjusting themselves to things they once opposed, and opposing things that need adjustment.

What a dreary world if each person was in agreement with another!

Life's spice comes from change which is a tender part of Nature, albeit her laws are termed immutable. This in itself presents a topic for argument to delight the disciples of passive resistance to any suggestion of change.

Exponents of argumentation exist in Sedalia as in every community; many are prime exhorters of change in their city government. Look at the taxes we pay and what do we get for them?

Because city government, per se, appears like an inanimate something, unable to talk back, it usually becomes the gull of inconsiderate criticism. But not shrinking from constructive suggestions for changes and improvements, if city government could speak it might appeal for cooperation in words supplied by an observer of city government functions as they exist today.

"Listen, mister, here's what I do for you—I collect your garbage because it isn't handy to keep around the house: When it is icy I sand your streets and when it snows I plow them; I clean them in the summer and at night I light them; I see that you get water fit to drink from your spigots; I keep guard over you and your family and I protect your property from the guest who'd like to steal the silver teapot from your dining-room buffet.

"I fight your battles for you; I see that you are not charged more than you should pay for the electric lights you use or the telephones through which you speak; I see that you get ten gallons of gas from the pump when you ask for it; I see that you get pure milk and that there are no typhoid germs in the oysters which you buy; I check up on your wife's hairdresser to make sure she's physically fit. I give you band concerts in the park, and I see that your kids have a place to play ball and tennis and swim.

"When you smoke in bed or your wife leaves the iron on, my boys show up to put out the fire. I take care of the neighbors who lack jobs or the ability to provide for themselves. All these things I do for you and a thousand more.

"And what do you do for me?

"Nothing! Except to grumble for about two weeks when I send you a bill for what I do and curse me if you think I've been inefficient or careless in doing the things you want me to do and which you know costs you less when I do them for you than if you attempted to do them for yourself. Occasionally you spend half an hour going down to the voting booth and marking X's for the men and women you happen to think will do most for you. As soon as you can you dismiss me from your mind and turn to the things which interest and amuse you more.

"WHY CAN'T WE GET TOGETHER?" That, in itself, would be quite a change for Sedalia—and one sorely needed in our plans for progress.

Many Unknowingly Have Emphysema---Lung Disorder

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Apparently many people have never heard of a condition known as emphysema until they are told they have it by a physician or learn about it from a relative or friend.

This is a disorder of the lungs which is believed to be present in varying degrees in an extremely large number of people. Studies of the human body after death have shown its presence in about one person in 20.

Emphysema in mild form commonly does not cause any symptoms at all, and it is probably for this reason that so many people are unaware of its existence.

When it does cause symptoms shortness of breath is the most common. This difficulty with breathing is the result of loss of elasticity of the tissues in the lungs. If this elasticity is impaired in enough of the lung tissue it is easy to see why shortness of breath should result.

Many extensive studies have been made of emphysema and are continuing.

The disease results in most instances from chronic infection of the breathing passages, whether it be long continued bronchitis or some other condition. Chronic asthma or a chest deformity may also lead to emphysema.

Also, it is probable that certain occupations present special hazards for the development of this disorder. Those whose work puts them in contact with poisonous dusts or who are engaged in work which carries increased risk of lung infections are particularly likely to develop emphysema.

Certainly, emphysema often comes from preventable causes. Hence it is important to eliminate as far as possible the special dangers of occupation and to treat chronic lung infections as early and as effectively as possible before emphysema has become established.

In spite of preventive measures many people will continue to develop emphysema.

Treatment is complicated. A large number of drugs have been tried, aimed at improving the ventilation of the lungs with varying degrees of success. Some people with chronic emphysema seem to be considerably helped if they can spend the colder months of the year in a mild climate.

There have also been some interesting reports in the medical literature involving the use of a breathing apparatus which results in intermittent pressure on the lungs. Special breathing exercises have been favored by some.

Some preparations which can be inhaled in finely divided form, aimed at attacking infection or dilating the bronchial tubes, have also been reported as having favorable effects for some victims.

Prevention, and obtaining early skilled advice, remain the most important aspects of emphysema for the patient.

'What's With Women?' Asks This Puzzled Male Reader

"Women are strange creatures," writes a man who reads this column.

"How can they so quickly become attached to anything new that they immediately discard the old, reliable, steadfast article the new item replaces?"

"Why do they pride themselves on being able to understand a man and see through another woman?"

"Isn't it strange the way a group of tired housewives is suddenly rejuvenated when mention is made of Marilyn Monroe, and how each and every one of them gets a ready-to-throw gleam in her eyes?"

"How can a woman who can't remember that her husband likes his bacon well done make him feel like such a chump if he forgets her birthday or their wedding anniversary?"

"How does a woman have the nerve to come home so dead tired from a day of shopping or bridge playing that she simply has to be taken out to dinner? She just isn't up to cooking a meal for her husband who has spent the day earning a living for the family."

"Why does a middle-aged housewife look with such a suspicious eye on the young thing with a naturally shapely figure, when the wife is spending her husband's hard-earned money in reducing salons, trying her best to get back her own youthful figure?"

"How can a wife talk for an hour to any woman who calls her on the telephone, and then find so little to say when her husband is on the other end of the line?"

"Why does a woman spend the days of courtship telling a man he is right about everything and all the years of their married life trying to prove he's wrong?"

Flowers of Texas

Texas boasts about 5,000 different species of wild flowers, some of which grow there exclusively. Native flora ranges from rugged cacti to delicate orchids.

January Gardens

Outside the temperature is low, Inside the house is warm And we think of the things we'll grow In gardens gay with charm; We look the flower book pictures o'er, It's fun to pick out seeds, And vividly we see once more

A garden without weeds; We plan the garden for all year With flowers from early spring Until the frosty days are near We plan just everything— Petunias growing in a box And all along the shed Where pansies edge the bed, We see the tall flowers growing straight The lower type profuse, In January—we can't wait, In July what's the use? The tall flowers we forgot to stake, Are drooping on the ground And Old Man Drought in his wake

Has burned up things around, The lawn has brown spots of grass, Or maybe none at all, No green grass, now, to cut, alas, Just dried up stuff to haul; We try to water flowers a bit But know it does no good And every year we just admit Things don't look like they should. Yet—January comes once more— Again we plan and look, We do just like we did before, Thrill at each garden book, We see our gardens bright with flowers, Forget the effort, too, Forget the work and all the hours To make our dream come true, Forget the awful summer heat, Forget those doggone weeds, Right now we never know defeat, For every flower succeeds, And so I join the happy throng I never learn, it seems; When January comes along, I start my garden dreams.

The Magnet: Better Teachers

Forcing Trig Cosines On Youth Won't Make Scientists

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — To hear the talk these days one would imagine that we could really fix those Russians if only we forced all our young people to study science.

What started this binge was the frequently repeated warning that Russia is turning out more "scientists" than we are. And how should we respond? Why by inflicting advanced algebra on every kid in high school. At the college level punishment would be more refined: calculus, differential equations, vector analysis, etc.

I warn against this prescription. Incidentally, I speak as a graduate engineer who endured endless hours of utter boredom while "studying" such subjects. The mathematics became bearable. But I still feel inferior to turbines of all types. Any communications circuit is an enemy.

It was a happy day when engineering and I came to a parting of the ways. I don't think my decision assures Russia's triumph, and I suggest that many of our young men and women also can decide against science and technology as careers without imperiling our country.

There is now, always has been and will be, a crying need for a better educated citizenry. Forfeiting science could drive potential scholars into hiding. There are some people, you know, who just don't like science. Anyway, it's so pointless. An educated man is a man of balance. That means he has a grasp of what it is that keeps the world spinning.

If after acquiring this grasp, the student wants to specialize, fine. He will be a substantial member of his community, and may improve the situation of men everywhere by pushing back the frontiers of knowledge.

But over-concentration on science and technology is no answer. Not unless we want a nation populated by trigonometric cosines. If you'll think about it, you've probably met fellows with technical degrees who nevertheless seemed uneducated.

Besides, it isn't mass production of technicians that counts. It is the output of a relatively few minds that makes the difference. The problem is to find the fellows with these minds. And then to provide an environment in which they flourish.

Money helps, of course. Not merely the money the man earns. But the financing that is necessary for sustained study, which could involve expensive laboratory facilities.

More important, perhaps, is the attitude of the community as a whole. Until recently, I think, our society has manifested an indifference bordering on disrespect toward scholars. The terms "long-hair" and "egghead" are not compliments.

In many areas the salaries paid teachers are hardly complimentary, either. Doubtless that is one reason why good science and math teachers are such rare birds in most of our high schools.

Fact is, there might be more young people studying science if they were exposed to teaching that is inspiring and enthusiastic. If the teaching is deadly dull, and it will be if the teacher is bored by the subject, naturally students are repelled.

Instead of passing laws to force science on all the young, why not make teaching a more immediately rewarding profession? That would lead to an improvement in the level of teaching in time. Inevitably that would attract to the study of science most of the students with aptitude and interest. And those are really the only students we have to reach.

J. J. Boyd Receives Promotion in Navy

The Navy Department announced Dec. 1, the promotion of James J. Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Boyd, Windsor, to aviation machinist's mate third class, USN, while serving at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Corry Field, Pensacola, Fla.

The promotion followed the successful completion of world-wide examinations last August.

somebody else's coat carrying a carefully folded inside out so the fact that she had a coat that was not hers wouldn't be so conspicuous. As they were wandering around, she noticed some one else with her coat, also folded carefully wrong side out. She recognized the flowered lining but said nothing.

Suddenly the other girl pointed to her and said, "Why, that's my coat." Hers had a polka-dot lining. "Yes it is," agreed the other girl, "and that is my coat."

The coats, they found, were exactly the same material and made just alike, but they had different kinds of linings.

So right then and there they changed coats and each went back to the New Year's party wearing her own coat.

AT A RECENT meeting of a women's organization, a young woman put her gloves on one chair at a table and her purse on another chair to save them for the two girls who were taking care of the tickets in the lobby of the hotel prior to the meeting.

In a few minutes another woman who was a particular friend came in and sat down in the chair where the gloves were, picking them up and stuffing them in her coat pocket. A short time later, the two girls with the tickets came in and one of them handed the pocketbook to its owner. The dinner was practically over when the first girl thought about her gloves and began to look for them. They all began to look — nobody had seen them — and after they just about gave up, the friend put her hands in the pockets of her coat and here were two pairs of gloves, a pair in each pocket. She returned the pair that wasn't hers, opened her purse and there was another pair of white gloves in there — but they were her own. She carries a spare so she will always have her gloves.

The girl who had just got her gloves back took no more chances — she put them on and wore them the rest of the evening just so she wouldn't lose them again.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Ike Isn't Worried About Depression

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Since President Eisenhower's health got shaky more than two years ago, he has dispensed with handshaking at the regular Tuesday meetings with the GOP legislators, usually confining himself to a formal "Good Morning, gentlemen."

But as if to emphasize that he was feeling his old self again, Ike gave a special greeting to each Republican leader as Congress reconvened. He waved his arm, exclaimed cheerily, "Well, we're back again," then went around the table shaking hands with each caller, beginning with GOP Rep. Leo Allen of Illinois.

Eisenhower remained in good spirits all during the meeting. He said he had been reading a lot of "nonsense" about the United States lagging far behind Russia; added that he wasn't "worried" about such criticism. It was politically inspired, he said, or came from sources which didn't know the facts.

"We are in excellent shape in missiles and all other phases of military science to meet any emergencies that may arise," he insisted. No Worries Over Business

The President also said that he wasn't worried about the slump in business and unemployment, and ignored the warning of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that business conditions will get "much worse" this year.

"Business was off during November and December," he said. "The same will hold true during January and February. However, my economic advisers assure me that there is bound to be a seasonal pickup in the spring."

He cited the fact that manufactured inventories are low in many industries and will have to be replaced, also that the government's roadbuilding program will spur business activity.

Ike's optimism waned a bit when Senate GOP leader William Knowland and house leader Joe Martin predicted that the proposed $74-billion balanced budget would have tough sledding in Congress.

"The Democrats are in the majority and if they insist on spending more than you have asked for, it will not be possible to keep a balanced budget," declared Martin.

Challenge To Lyndon Johnson

The basic problem of the Democratic party, one-man domination of its policies, was raised even before Congress convened, by a freshman

Senator, Pat McNamara of Michigan. He wrote Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson a blunt letter reminding him, in effect, that Democratic Senate caucuses were supposed to be democratic with a small d, not dictated to by one man.

The public doesn't know it, but not since last January have Democratic Senators held a caucus. Under previous Democratic leaders, caucuses were held every month or so to decide policy. When the late Alben Barkley was Democratic leader, he held caucuses every couple of months. Lyndon Johnson, however, doesn't relish discussion, decides party policy largely on his own.

This was the chief reason why ex-President Truman, Adlai Stevenson, Senator Kefauver and chairman Paul Butler set up a Democratic advisory committee. They didn't want the Democratic party being dominated by one man, especially a man who bows to the oil and gas interests of Texas.

So when Senator McNamara received Senator Johnson's notice that a Democratic caucus had been called to "brief" the Democrats on the work of Johnson's Senate preparedness committee it raised some hackles on McNamara's neck.

No. 1, he figured there were other problems facing the Democrats than being briefed on Johnson's preparedness committee — among them more than 100,000 men out of work in Michigan. No. 2, he recalled that Johnson had chairmanned the Unpreparedness Committee for two years without doing anything about missiles; and that it was Symington of Missouri and Jackson of Washington who had been the Senators to warn the nation long ago regarding our missile lag.

"Extremely Rare Conference"

So the blunt-spoken Senator from Michigan who started life as a pipefitter's apprentice in Quincy, Mass., wrote a letter to Lyndon: "The current searching looks at our preparedness progress, or the lack of it, certainly are important," he said. "Without minimizing the importance, however, I am very disappointed that the 'briefing' is the only item listed on the agenda of an extremely rare conference of Democratic Senators."

This was a direct dig at Johnson's failure to call a Democratic caucus for a whole year. Then, referring to Johnson's habit of deciding policy by huddling with a handful of cronies, McNamara continued:

"Certainly there are other major issues of concern to the country. I am not naive enough to assume that the Democratic Senators can reach unanimity on every program or policy, but this should not rule out efforts to form a Democratic legislative program arrived at by a majority of us and not by just a handful." Johnson promptly phoned McNamara in Detroit, assured him other problems, such as unemployment and inflation, would be up for discussion at the caucus. Johnson went further and put them on the agenda. However, they were never discussed at this week's closed-door meeting. It will be interesting to see if Johnson calls another meeting to discuss them.

JOPLIN GLOBE: A Needed Voting Reform. The last session of the Missouri Legislature voted to submit to the people in the November, 1958, general election a constitutional amendment to permit persons who have resided in the state 60 days to vote in presidential elections.

This is one reform that surely merits unanimous approval by voters. The present law requiring a one-year residence of the state in order to vote in any election disfranchises far too many people in these times of shifting populations.

The fact that an individual or a family moves from one state into another ought not to deprive them of the right to vote for President and Vice President, who are elected by the people of all states.

Presumably the theory of the present law is that new residents are not sufficiently acquainted with local candidates and issues to vote wisely. But this certainly would not extend to national candidates.

Thirty-one states still hold to the rule of one-year residence, and 11 have a six-month requirement. Wisconsin has approved a law permitting new residents to vote for President. Because an estimated 6,000,000 citizens of the United States could not vote in the 1956 general election because of state residence requirements, various voter groups are advocating the same reform now to be submitted to Missouri voters.

Life's Practical Joke

Successful Artist Has Deep Affection for Big Brass Tuba

Editor's Note — This is one of the strangest love stories and you'll ever read: the love of one man for his tuba.

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—There are few things artist Gerard Hoffnung loves more than a big brass tuba. "My wife, my son, yes," he explains with a shrug, "but after them, the tuba comes first."

Hoffnung, a successful painter, cartoonist, author, teacher and musician, regards life as something akin to a tremendous practical joke.

"I take the tuba terribly, terribly seriously," he says. "I always desperately wanted to play it. But I was not allowed to play it. My parents objected and I only started playing it after they died. I hope that doesn't sound awful. I don't mean it to sound awful."

He says his mother wanted him to become a concert violinist.

"She dreamed of accompanying me. But she never could see her way to accompanying a tuba, even though played by me."

Hoffnung attended fashionable Harrow, Sir Winston Churchill's alma mater, where he later became a master.

From Harrow he found his way to a London newspaper, all the while painting, drawing and longing to play the instrument of his dreams.

His cartoons were so amusing—with a wild, slightly mad touch—that magazines in America, Britain and on the continent started buying them.

He left his newspaper and started working as a freelance.

Finally, he became so completely identified with his strange fascination that he took up the tuba seriously in 1951.

"People seem to think of it as fierce and martial," he says. "But actually, it has a warm and very tender tone. It's a glorious horn."

The umpah-making instrument that dates back to ancient Roman legions was the symbol of London's biggest New Years Eve party, the annual Chelsea Arts Ball. Hoffnung had been commissioned to decorate the huge Albert Hall for the occasion. The theme was music, and to Hoffnung music is the tuba.

Last year he inspired London's craziest musical concert at Royal Festival Hall.

Symphonies were played by an orchestra that included vacuum cleaners, electric floor polishers, four men who fired rifles, and six others who blew into hot water bottles.

A London critic praised the concert, calling it the greatest musical joke of all time. A recording of the event was a hit in Britain but had a mixed reception in the United States. American critics felt it all was probably funnier when seen.

Hoffnung bounces from one weird accomplishment to another.

The author of four books, a regular broadcaster for the British Broadcasting Corp.—in addition to everything else—he will appear as a concert artist early next year.

The venerable British composer Ralph Vaughan Williams has written the music for the coming occasion. He calls it "Concerto for Bass Tuba."

Short, stout, rumbled and only 32, Hoffnung has brought his bearded horn into his already cluttered home. Two tubas, both reverently covered in soft cloth, adorn his living room.

Tigers Fall 48-47 to Jefferson City

Bengals Suffer First Conference Setback

Enter Fulton Tournament Next Tuesday

The Smith-Cotton Tigers, coasting along with a comfortable 10-point lead with five minutes remaining in the fourth quarter, faded badly in the closing minutes Friday night and wound up losing an overtime heartbreaker to their arch-rivals, the Jefferson City Jays, 48-47.

Regulation play ended in a 45-45 deadlock. Alan Green poked in a two-point lead to give the Jays a 47-45 lead in the overtime, but Tom Herrick connected for the Bengals to tie it up again. With 40 seconds left, Bob Caine, canned a free toss. Sedalia failed to hit on two field goal attempts in the closing seconds and the Jays claimed their second Central Missouri Conference victory. The loss was the first for S-C in loop play against three wins.

The game was decided on fouls and at the free throw line. Jefferson City was called for 13 infractions and the Tigers were caught fouling 22 times. At the charity line, the Jays hit 14 and S-C managed only 11. The Bengals outscored their long-time rivals from the field, 18-17.

Jefferson City jumped off to a hot start and commanded a 14-6 first quarter lead. However, Coach Howard Glavin's charges bounced back to knot the count at half, 24-24.

The Tigers built up a 37-31 lead during the third period and continued to surge ahead in the final stanza until the five minute mark appeared on the clock. From there the Red and Black of the Capital City completely dominated play. John Middleton paced the Bengals with 16 points, followed by Tom Herrick's 11. For Jefferson City, high scoring Bob Caine tanked 15 in the winning effort.

The Tigers slate this week will be centered on the 16th Annual Fulton Invitational Tournament which gets underway Tuesday night with S-C playing the meet's lid lifter at 8 p. m. against the defending champions, Wellsville. Wellsville sports a 7-4 record and the Tigers are 5-5 for the season. Other teams in the lower bracket with Smith-Cotton are Hannibal, University High of Columbia, Moberly, Mexico, and Helias of Jefferson City.

The upper bracket appears the toughest with the undefeated Hickman Kewpies, 11-0, leading the field, followed by the Eldon Mustangs, champions of the Tipton tournament; Montgomery City, Booneville, Jefferson City, Fulton and Herman.

Tournament quarterfinals will be held Thursday night; semi-finals Friday night and the championship battle Saturday night.

Officials for the 21-game classic are Jess Henson, Thelbert Newton, Morrow Mason and Smokey Keller—all well known in Central Missouri city circles.

Alma Whips Nelson Basketball Team 49-23

The Nelson High School cagers, playing without scoring ace Gary Laboube, failed to net a point in the final stanza Friday night and dropped a 49-23 decision to Alma in a LaSaline Conference game played on the Alma court.

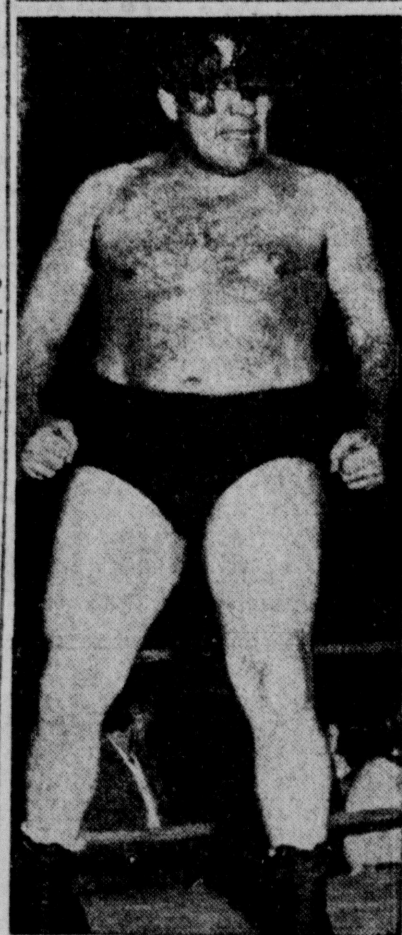

Alma led by only four points at the half, 17-13, but gained a 14-point lead in the third quarter, 37-23, before going into the final period that proved fatal for the Nelson crew.

Ross Hunt led Nelson with 11 points and Miller was high for Alma with 22.

BULL MONTANA—A television star in wrestling will be in the six-man tag event on the American Legion card Tuesday night. Montana, a bulk of human flesh, considers himself the terror to whip any and all comers before he is through with his middleweight tour.

Six Man Tag Team Match Here Tuesday

Another spectacular Six Man Tag Team match will hold the Main Event spotlight at the Sedalia Armory Wrestling matches on Tuesday night. A sellout crowd that watched the New Years Six Man Tag Match apparently were so pleased, thrilled and excited with the results of this novel sporting event, that they demanded another match of the same type.

Promoter Gust Karras immediately went to work signing as many outstanding stars as were available. On team number one "Rowdy" Joe Dusek will captain a team composed of himself, the goose-stepping Otto von Krupp and television star Bull Montana. On team number two, which will be captained by Sonny Myers, Ronnie Elchison and the Dublin Irishman Dan O'Shocker join the versatile Myers in what appears to be the greatest combination ever assembled on one team.

The action is always so terrific in 6 man tag matches that it has mat fans on the edge of their seats from start to finish and there is never a dull moment or letup in the action. The usual two out of three fall, or one hour time limit will govern this match.

In addition to the Main event there will be three additional bouts, with the individuals of each team paired off in single contests. In the one fall, twenty minute time limit opener, Ronnie Elchison will tangle with the much feared Otto von Krupp, who calls Munich Germany home.

The special attraction which is also a one fall or twenty minute time limit match pits Bull Montana against Sedalia favorite Sonny Myers.

The semifinals match could well challenge the main event for rugged action when Joe Dusek meets newcomer Dan O'Shocker. The "Irish whip" specialist comes to the middleweight from a Canadian tour and would like nothing more than to spoil Dusek's record, which has been more than impressive over the past six months.

With a six man tag team match demanded by the wrestling fans as the main event, and three other top flight matches on the card, a capacity house is expected as indicated by the advance sale.

Sports Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

THE Sedalia Lions Club Invitational Basketball Tournament apparently is attracting stronger teams this year. In some cases where a team has shown some weakness in the season play, that team has been recruiting additional manpower to build up strength to go after the annual Lion's Championship.

Surprisingly the 1937 Champions, Whiteman Air Force Base, has indicated no team is available for the tournament. Hence the defending champion spot may be vacant this year unless some of the better players on the field get together and form a team to represent the base.

If Whiteman isn't entered it will be the first time since the Lions resumed their tournament the base has not been represented in the local sport.

Several requests for "information" regarding teams which have or may enter have been requested of the Lions Club committee. This is an indication weak teams are not too anxious to get in the swim and resulting in a little tough work for the committee in selecting the teams.

The rule of the first entered are the first placed on the bracket has met with this problem, of the teams holding off before paying its entrance fee. One cannot blame a weak team for holding out until they learn who will possibly be their opponent, but on the other hand all teams are not as weak as they might think.

Regardless the Committee in charge is expecting one of the toughest tournaments of its history and as a member remarked "anything can happen."

I read with interest a rebuttal of Bert A. Doering, St. Louis, who took exception to an editorial in the Kansas City Star recently which glorified Stan (The Man) Musial which named him one of the outstanding athletes in our history and a leading citizen of St. Louis.

I do not know Mr. Doering. I expect he is a fine man and a gentleman, but his remarks appeared to be that of a disgruntled man who seeks publicity for himself on ramblings against a fine athlete and citizen.

What little I know about Musial, although I have had the pleasure several times of meeting and visiting with him, I feel Mr. Doering is wrong. In the first place Musial began as an amateur and as he grew he was able to put his amateur experience into professionalism for

Hubbard Wins 86-78 Over Green Ridge

The Hubbard Tigers' Gene Sims poured in 38 points Friday night in a wild scoring contest that saw the Tiger deadeye sink 21 in the third quarter to whip the highly regarded Green Ridge Tigers 86-78. The game was played on the Green Ridge court.

Green Ridge came on strong in the second quarter to capture the lead 43-38 after trailing 24-15 at the end of the first period.

The Hubbard crew held off a fourth quarter Green Ridge rally to claim the victory after regaining the lead in a torrid 32-16 third period.

A total of eight players scored in the double figures—four for each team. Sims' 38 points came on 16 field goals and six free throws to capture game scoring honors and Ernest McFeters contributed 18. Leroy Johnson added 12, and Bob Crockett netted 10 for Hubbard's cause. Kenneth Burns topped the Green Ridge scoring with 25 markers, followed by Jim Edmundson with 18, Virgil Kurtz with 13, and Terry Durell with 12.

In a preliminary contest, Hubbard's "B" team set the pattern for the varsity squad by outlasting the Green Ridge "B" team 45-33. Hubbard coasted to victory after coping a 15-7 first quarter lead.

Robinson and Cline led Hubbard's attack with 12 and 11 points, respectively, and Smith was high for the host team with 14, followed by Street with 10.

Keglers' Korner Broadway Lanes Will Host Raytown Bowlers Today

The Broadway Lanes bowling team will shoot for its third straight inter-city match victory against the colorful Bamboo Hut squad of Raytown at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Broadway Lanes.

In their last two outings, the Sedalians have performed brilliantly in defeating the leading traveling teams of Columbia and Jefferson City. Against Bowl-A-While of the Capital City, Broadway Lanes registered a great 2,993-pin team scratch series.

Bamboo Hut's rollers probably will be Jerry Paschal, Pete Akers, Tom Morris, Dick Layden and Glen West. The colorfully garbed black and red uniformed team has consistently been one of Raytown's best teams. Captained by Dick Layden and anchored by powerful hook shooting Glen West, the Jackson countains, despite an earlier 94-pin loss to Sedalia, are considered as tough opponents.

Broadway Lanes will have John Hazell, Jim Ryan, Joe Long, Jack Vaughan and Bob McCurdy on the firing line today. Hazell leads the team with a 192 average for 48 games; Ryan has 182 for 20 games; Long 177 in 31; Vaughan 175 in 47; and McCurdy 183 in 43 games. Other members of the Broadway Lanes' team are Bill Shockey (185); Red Heurman (180); Jim Taylor (178); Charlie Thompson (174); and Jim Carter (171).

Sedalia's last loss was suffered at the hands of the Yellowstones, one of Kansas City's leading teams.

HORST PACES FIELD
Eighteen-year-old Gerald Horst, Sedalia's most promising young bowler, led by ABC keggers in sanctioned league play last week by recording both the high single game and high series. His top game score, rolled at Sedalia Lanes, was 256 and the winning series was a 643-pin performance.

Gerald, a 180-plus shooter, holds the year's high series mark in Sedalia—an early season 671.

Red Heurman's 242 game was high for the week at Broadway Lanes. Other top performances were registered by John Hazell 241; Clarence Oswald 237; Jim Taylor 235; Jack Vaughan 227 and 220; Father G. Pelletier 223; and John Bowman 219.

John Hazell came up with the best series for the week at Broadway Lanes, a 635-pin effort. Other 600-pin-plus series were posted by Fran Giger, 605; Jack Vaughan 613; and Doc Visentin 611.

Dick Kaufman and Vic Scott rolled 600-plus series at Sedalia Lanes during the week with Kaufman scoring a 622 and Scott a 603. Following Horst's 256 game, Kaufman had a 230; Guy Robinson 219; Bill Shockey 217; and Guy Jaeger and Paul Rialti, each 213.

CITY TOURNEY SET
The tenth annual Singles, Doubles and Team Handicap Championships Tournament, sponsored by the Sedalia Bowling Association, will be held at Broadway Lanes on February 8, 9, 15 and 16. Team events will be rolled on the 8th and 9th and the doubles and singles on February 15 and 16.

The City Association is aiming at 100 per cent participation and in an effort to attain this goal, bowlers have been offered their choice of bowling times and individual preferences will be granted when possible. The A. B. C. sanctioned tourney will be open for entry until 12 p. m. January 18.

Defending champions in the men's competition are Jack Vaughan, singles; Ray Combs and Clarence Friedly, doubles; Jim Ryan, all-events; and John's Auto, team. Women champions in 1937 were Pat Glover, singles and all-events; Seale McCulley and Jerry Hayes, doubles; and Turbo-Flames of the Officers Wives' League, team.

WOMEN BOWLERS MEET
Mrs. Robert McCurdy has announced that the Sedalia Women's Bowling Association will hold its second meeting of the 1937-38 season on January 17 at 7:30 p. m. in the Women's Room of the Elks Club. Mrs. Erma Lingie, president of the association, will preside.

"Bowling instructors," says Lee Jougard, holder of the ABC singles record, "contribute most to the development of beginners by stressing fundamentals."

They should check the equipment to be sure that the bowler has a properly weighted ball, properly fitted to the hand; they should make certain that the student has the proper stance on the approach; they should determine the number of steps most natural to the bowler; they should see that rhythm in the swing and in releasing the ball is perfected; and they should teach the proper angle for the flight of the ball.

All bowlers are asked to bear in mind that the instructor's personal style may not be the best for another person. Each case should be analyzed and the style individually prescribed and developed accordingly.

Pintos Whip Smithton In Tournament

The powerful California Pintos erased Smithton's chances for the California Invitational Basketball tournament championship Friday night with a 70-54 decision over the Tigers.

The Pintos overcame a six point deficit early in the second quarter and Smithton never threatened again.

The Tigers' Junior Monsees led the scoring with 23 points and Flippin was high for California with 19.

In other games Friday night, the Versailles Tigers took a come-from-behind 46-44 victory over the School of the Osage in the other winners bracket semi-finals, and Blue Springs defeated Bunceton 62-54 and Iberia whipped Jamestown's Eagles 54-42 in the consolation semifinals.

The Versailles Tigers cooled off a hot Osage team in the second quarter to cut down an eight point disadvantage at the end of the first period to trail by only two, 25-23, at the half. The Tigers took a one point lead at the end of the third quarter, 33-32, and outscored the Indians in the final period 13-12 for the winning margin.

Galen Pyle copped scoring honors for Versailles with 21 points and Neely topped Osage with 14.

Iberia took a 27-13 halftime lead, then played on even terms with Jamestown to whip the Eagles 54-42.

Dave Garnett was high scorer for Jamestown with 18 markers and Lyman Hannah led Iberia with 16.

A desperation bid for victory failed in the final quarter and the Blue Springs Wildcats triumphed 62-52 over the Bunceton Dragons.

High Scorer for Blue Springs was Gary Uhlman with 15 points and Ronnie Dick netted 18 for Bunceton.

Family Continues To Better Swim Records

SYDNEY, Jan. 11.—John Konrads, 15-year-old Latvian born Australian, today became the second member of his family to set a world swimming record this week. He bettered the world 800 yard freestyle mark held by George Breen of Buffalo, N. Y.

Konrads covered the distance in 9 minutes, 17.7 seconds. Breen's time on Oct. 27, 1956 was 9 minutes, 19.2 seconds.

Konrads' 13-year-old sister, Ise, bettered the women's 800 yards record Thursday.

In his record swim which came in the New South Wales state championships, Konrad beat 16-year-old John Kissane of Cassino by 20 yards while Olympian Murray Garretty finished third.

A near capacity crowd at the pool cheered Konrads during the final three laps. The official announcer kept the crowd informed of Konrads' lap times and at the 660 mark he announced that Konrads apparently was on his way to the record.

Konrads and Garretty swam together for the first three laps but then the younger competitor started to move away.

from the Syracuse Nationals.

Lovellette was evicted from the game early in the second quarter when, apparently erked by a call of a foul, he threw the ball and it hit an official.

Victory in the nationally televised game was Cincinnati's second in less than 24 hours. The Royals whipped the New York Knickerbockers here last night.

It was Cincinnati's third victory over Syracuse in seven games this season and the triumph came after a string of four straight defeats at the hands of the Nats.

Lions Club Tourney Set For February

The annual Sedalia Lions Club Invitational Basketball Tournament is moving ahead with the promise of one of the strongest set of teams in the history of the tournament. Committees have been appointed and the schedule of activity in preparing for the event is well underway. The dates are Feb. 3 to 8th.

Co-chairmen of the committee, K. A. Buchholz, L. R. Parker, K. C. Ream, have selected various committees and put them into action immediately.

The various committees are: Program: James Atkinson, chairman, A. W. Haller, John Ellison, Ralph Becker, Virgil Ragar, James Hobbe and Abe Silverman.

During the last three basketball seasons Dartmouth teams won 18 games each campaign.

Captain Don DeJardin of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Mike Jones of Kansas City, Mo., are the only upper classmen on Army's basketball team.

Field Goal Effort Fails

North Stars Edge South 15-13 In Senior Bowl

MOBILE, Ala., Jan. 11.—Big Ron Hanson of Illinois blocked a South punt out of the end zone and gave the North a bitterly contested 15-13 football victory over the Rebels in the ninth annual Senior Bowl today.

An attempted field goal by full-back Billy Atkins of Auburn's national championship team failed in the last 15 seconds.

Ray Brown, hero of the Sugar Bowl victory over Texas, rallied the South forces in the waning moments but the heavier North defenders halted the charge on their two. Atkins went in for the field goal attempt but his kick sliced to the right.

Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State back, put the North in the lead with a two-yard plunge in the first quarter. The rugged Big 10 star was hurt on the play and saw little service the rest of the way.

Mike Sommer, George Washington speedster, set up the touchdown by returning a punt 47 yards before Brown knocked him out of bounds on the South 11.

Jackie Simpson, 200-pound Mississippi guard, intercepted a pass by North quarterback Jim Ninowski of Michigan State and ran it back 53 yards to the North one late in the half. George Walkers of Arkansas carried over on a keeper.

Brown also carried over from the one on another keep play for the South's other touchdown in the third quarter following a 22-yard drive. The touchdown was set up on a recovered fumble by Don Healy of Maryland.

The North's winning touchdown in the fourth quarter came on a 45-yard drive with Larry Krutko carrying over from the two. Jim Shanley of Oregon, playing in the place of the injured Kowalczyk, picked up 15 yards of the drive on a wide sweep to get to the 5.

North scoring — Touchdowns: Kowalczyk (2, plunge), Krutko (2, plunge). Safety: Hanson (blocked Atkins' punt out of end zone).

Conversions: Kramer.
South scoring — Touchdowns: Walker (1, plunge), Brown (1, plunge). Conversions: Atkins.

Strong Fortuna Team Wins at Home Friday

A strong Fortuna cage team won a 91-86 decision over Town and Country Friday night at the Fortuna gymnasium.

In the first quarter the two teams kept an even pace as they both scored 23 points. In the second quarter the Fortuna five forged ahead and at half-time the score read 51-36. Town and Country tried during the last half to gain back the margin, but when the final buzzer sounded they were still five points short.

High scorer of the game was Ringen of Town and Country with 22 field goals and three free tosses for 47 points. Hueman led the Fortuna team with 32 points.

Hayden Wants Name Changed Back Again

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Sterling Hayden wants that to be his legal name again.

His petition to the Superior Court yesterday explained: He was born Sterling Walter 41 years ago in Montclair, N.J. His mother remarried when he was 10 and his name became Sterling Hayden.

Entering the U.S. Marine Corps in 1942, he had his name changed legally to John Hamilton to avoid publicity.

When he returned to the movies he resumed the name Sterling Hayden. He wants it as his legal name, he said, because he has four children who bear the name Hayden. He is divorced, he told the court, and lives with the children in suburban Sherman Oaks.

Less Milk Needed For Dairy Calves

WASHINGTON (AP)—Experiments have shown that it is not necessary to feed dairy calves as much milk as is the custom.

Studies made at the government's agricultural research center at nearby Beltsville, Md., show that young dairy stock may be fed heavier rations of roughage feeds.

The usual recommendation in calf feeding is to feed whole or skim milk to six months of age and there are four pounds of grain a day during most of the period of growth.

The experiments—reported today—have shown that Jersey and Holstein heifers may grow to normal size at two years of age on a variety of good quality forage feeds when milk feeding is limited to 60 days and grain feeding is limited to the first nine months.

This new feeding practice would channel more milk to markets.

l Kentucky, in 1807, the son of a cultured family. After graduating 1825 from Transylvania University in Lexington, Kentucky, he studied law and four years later was admitted to the bar.

2. How did he gain prominence as a Missouri lawyer?

A. He moved to Liberty, Missouri, in 1830, and soon his law practice flourished. He defended Jackson County Mormons in legal troubles with Gentile neighbors in 1833, and the next year Clay County Mormons helped elect him State representative. At a militia muster near Liberty in 1835 he was one of the group who sponsored the movement for the Platte Purchase. Again elected State representative in 1838, he served on the judiciary committee and as chairman of the committee on criminal jurisprudence. Extremely popular as a Democratic leader, he was appointed judge of the newly created 12th Judicial District in 1841 and moved to Platte City.

3. What was his record in the United States Senate?

A. Appointed with statewide approval, but without solicitation, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of U.S. Senator Lewis F. Linn in 1843, he was elected to the office the following year and re-elected in 1849, serving until 1855. His efforts to encourage the settlement of Oregon in the 1840s won him early recognition in the Senate. As leader of the Democratic proslavery forces in the Senate, he was influential in the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska Act and was among those responsible for the defeat of Senator Thomas Hart Benton in 1851. His fame as "president for a day" rests on the claim that in 1849 his election as president of the Senate, March 2, made him President of the United States for the one-day interval between the expiration of President Polk's term, March 3, and the inauguration of President Taylor, March 5, postponed from the usual inauguration date because it was Sunday. Six feet two inches tall and "straight as an arrow," he was a commanding figure in the Senate. In the bitterly-contested campaign of 1854, when Benton ran against him, both were defeated, and his political career ended. Afterward he took a prominent part in trying to make Kansas a slave state and several times led Missouri forces into Kansas in 1855-1856.

4. What part did he play in the Civil War?

A. Supporting the Southern cause, at the outbreak of the Civil War he joined the Missouri State troops and was present at several battles. Afterward he lived in seclusion on his farm near Gower, where in 1870 his residence, together with his library and valuable collection of manuscripts, was destroyed by fire. Unassuming, honest, and a friend of the "common people," he was held in high esteem by his neighbors. He died, a bachelor, at his home in 1886.

5. How is his memory honored? A. A Missouri county and a Kansas town are named for him. His statue, erected by the State of Missouri in 1928, stands at Plattsburg. A highway marker commemorating him is located in De Kalb County.

6. What was his name? A. David Rice Atchison.

Geigers Will Give Travelogue At Sorosis

The program at Sorosis Monday afternoon will be presented by Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Geiger, 1520 West Broadway, at which time they will show slides and tell of their interesting trip to Europe during May and June of 1957.

The Geigers went over on the ship, United States, which took five days and flew back in 13 1/2 hours from Ireland to Chicago. While in Europe they visited France, Switzerland, Germany, Netherlands, England and Ireland. They were there six weeks.

One of the high spots of the trip was attending the Rotary International at Lucerne, Switzerland, which was one of the reasons they went over at that particular time.

Mrs. Alice Wolfe, history and literature chairman, will introduce the speaker.

SPRING COATS
It is time to think about spring coats, and how pretty they are this year. In the wool collection we find both full length and short ones. Solid colors in navy, white and platinum seem to be the important colors in long coats. Of course we will see other shades such as toast, red, black and in-between colors. Shorties are being shown and they are smart with new back attention that gives them a fresh new look. Solid shades as well as mixtures are good. Tiny checks too are being shown and we always like them. We find dusters too have returned and we love them. They are perfect for nearly all wear and it is simple to find one to fit your particular needs. They are smart, made in many types of feather-weight fabrics and come in all colors and mixtures. Use care in selecting your spring wrap keeping in mind your tweeds and stripes won't look well with print dresses or suits in mixtures. It is an old story, but select your coat or duster early and plan the rest of your wardrobe around it. See us on T. V. Monday 7:45 P. M. Channel 6

Three Ages Of Lewises Work on Show

HOLLYWOOD — Three generations of Lewises are working on Jerry's latest movie, but one is due for retirement.

It was quite a family scene on the set of "Rock-a-Bye-Baby" over at Paramount. Frank Tashlin was directing a shot in which young Gary Lewis sings a song and dances over a hillside of spring flowers.

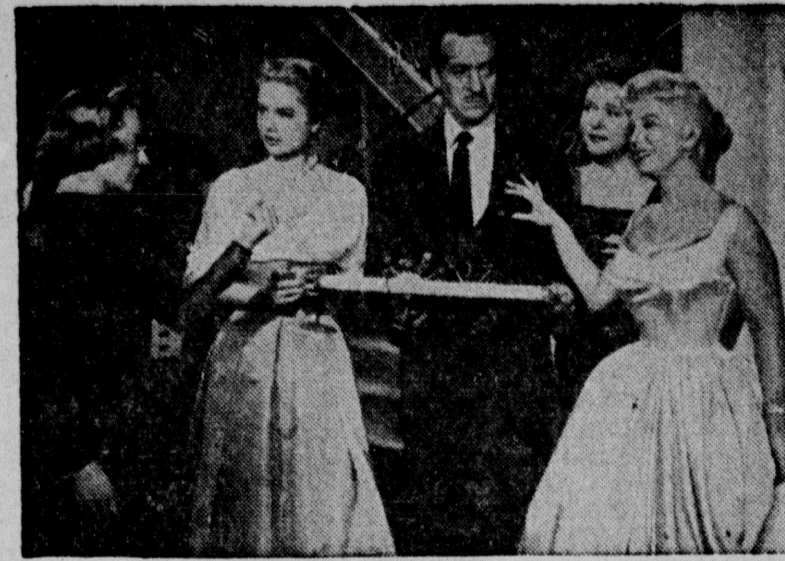

Also aiding in the direction was the producer of the picture, Jerry Lewis, who finds time to act in it too. Then there was his lovely wife Patty, who brought along another son, Ronnie. Completing the family picture was Gary's grandfather, youthful-looking vaudeville veteran Danny Lewis, who also has a part in the movie.

The family group gathered in the Paramount commissary for lunch and discussed 12-year-old Gary's budding career, which is about to be nipped.

"This kid has only about 200 tons of talent," said proud papa Jerry. "It's just too bad it's going to be hidden until he grows up."

How's that?
"This will be Gary's farewell appearance until he graduates from college," Jerry said.

I asked Gary how he felt about that.
"I'll change my mind," the boy said, out of his father's hearing. He'll have some powerful campaigning to do, because Jerry seems pretty firm in his decision. "I hate child actors," he said. "I mean the professional kind of child actor. The youngsters who are great as actors and who are really liked are the ones who do things naturally, who act without being actors. Gary is like that. But the trouble with most child actors is that they are pushed into acting by an ambitious parent. The kids become phony; they're subjected to all kinds of attention which they shouldn't have at their age. And they usually end up unhappy in their later lives. "Gary doesn't have to act. He's going to have the advantage of the education I didn't have. I had to quit in the second grade of high school, not because I needed the money but because I couldn't be happy unless I was in show business. "I've lived to regret it. I've had to adjust to situations I could have coped with more easily if I had gone on in school."

Modern Tight Pants May Cause Mutation, Researchers Reveal

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—All men who think in terms of future generations should swap their heat-producing pants for kilts, say three outstanding Swedish geneticists after extensive research.

Their report will be published soon in the British scientific journal Nature.

They found a "dangerous" increase in the frequency of genetic mutations because of higher temperatures produced by the wearing of modern tight pants. A genetic mutation causes children to differ from the characteristics of their parents to some noticeable degree, usually in an abnormal way.

The doctors estimated the genetic risks resulting from pants are 100 to 1,000 times greater than that from radioactivity.

The research team consisted of Doctors Lars Ehrenberg and Guenter von Ehrenstein of Stockholm University and Arne Hedgran of the Caroline Hospital.
